IN THE TEMPLE OF JUSTICE

Proceedings of the April Term of Court.

JUDGE JOHN G. LOVE ON THE BENCH

The Case Against the "Moshannon Social Club" the Most Important—Defendants Plead Guilt and Were fined $125 and Cost.

THE REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY

Specially Reported for the "Republican" by W. Harrison Walker, Esq.

The regular term of April court commenced Monday morning, April 28th, and will continue for three weeks. Hon. John G. Love, P. J., Prothonotary Gardner and Register Archey were in their usual places. Stenographer G. S. Burrows, of Sunbury, arrived on the 9 a. m. train.

The forenoon session was consumed in the presentation of motions and petitions by the members of the bar, returns by constables, etc.

The Court directed the Prothonotary to call over the list of grand jurors who had been summoned and appointed Joseph Hoy, Sr., of State College borough, foreman. The Court then gave them their usual instructions, after which they retired to the grand jury room to pass upon the several bills of indictment that were to be laid before them by District Attorney Spangler.

The most important case that was to have been tried this week was that of Commonwealth vs. Frank Beckwith, who is charged with "murder;" also, with "Threats to kill and carrying concealed deadly weapons," but on account of the illness of Attorneys Orvis and Gray, two of the attorneys for the defendant, the Court continued the case until August court. The indictment will, very likely, be laid before the present grand jury and a bill found.

There are 38 cases on the criminal list and three cases on the civil list to be disposed of this week, 26 cases on the civil list to be disposed of next week, and for the special week commencing May 12, 1902, there are four cases to be disposed of.

Frederick Blanchard, who for the past several years has been a student in the law office of John M. Dale, Esq., was admitted to practice law in the several courts of Centre county.

Mr. Blanchard passed a very creditable examination and we predict for him a bright future as a member of the bar.

The case of M. J. D. Hubler vs. James C. Condo, being an appeal from a judgment rendered by a Justice of the Peace, was settled by the parties before court.

Upon application, the case of the Farmers' Nursery Co. vs. H. H. Harshberger was continued.

The case of Mary S. Thomas vs. Thos. Butler and Burdign Butler was continued on account of the illness of Mr. Gray, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Thomas.

The case of Robert Kinkead vs. Rosa L. Pierce was also continued on account of illness of the attorney for defendant.

The case of Jacob N. Royer vs. Charles P. Long, being an action for trespass, was continued on account of the illness of a material witness for the plaintiff.

The following cases were continued for reasons stated to the Court :

Philip B. Iddings and Hannah M. Iddings vs. Spring township; trespass; plea, "not guilty."

Chas. H. Burr, Jr., receiver of, etc. vs. H. DeLeon Meek; assumpsit; plea, "non-assumpsit."

Robert M. Foster vs. Borough of State College; trespass; plea, "not guilty."

J. Thornton Osmond vs. Borough of State College, trespass; plea, "not guilty."

John Hamilton vs. Borough of State College; trespass; plea, "not guilty."

Washington Cornet Band vs. D. F. Louck and W. O. Dougherty; trespass; plea, "not guilty."

The criminal cases disposed of on Monday were as follows :

J. Harry Confer and Fred Confer, who were charged with the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods, waived the finding of a bill by the grand jury and entered a plea of "guilty" to larceny. The Court suspended sentence for the present but directed them to pay all costs.

Charles McLaughlin entered a plea of "guilty" to the charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced to pay costs, a fine of $10 and undergo imprisonment in the jail of Centre county for three months.

John Hough, who was charged with the crime of adultery, entered a plea of "guilty" and was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 and the costs of prosecution.

The case of Commonwealth vs. James Eckley was called Monday afternoon. Mr. Eckley was indicted for assault and battery upon the person of Harry N. Walker, a son of A. S. Walker, of Ferguson township. From the evidence it appeared that some time in the latter part of January of this year the Odd Fellows of Pine Grove Mills had a festival, cake-walk, etc., and during the evening it was alleged that young Walker struck Eckley and that immediately thereafter there was a general scrap between these two young men. Eckley was arrested and entered bail for his appearance at the April sessions of court. The jury rendered a verdict against Eckley and the Court sentenced him to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $20.

Court adjourned at 5:30 Monday evening.

The case against Arthur Thomas who was charged with cruelty to animals, etc., by Jas. Toner, was called Tuesday morning. From the facts in the case it appeared that some time about the 1st of March Toner sent Thomas to Lemont to bring one of his horses to Bellefonte that had been left there by a man by the name of Way, Thomas went to Lemont and on his way home with the horse and buggy it was alleged that he beat the horse and cruelly treated him. One witness on the part of the Commonwealth testified that he met Thomas and another boy coming down the Boalsburg pike that afternoon, one of the boys holding the lines and the other one whipping the horse. When they reached Bishop street the buggy upset and the boys were thrown out, young Thomas being severely injured.

At the conclusion of the testimony on part of the Commonwealth the Attorney for the defendant stated that under the Act of Assembly and in the light of the facts as presented by the Commonwealth, that there could not be a conviction. After some argument the Court directed the Counsel for the Commonwealth and the defendant to go to the jury on the question of costs. The jury divided the costs equally between the prosecutor and the defendant.

Court called Tuesday morning at nine o'clock with Hon. John G. Love on the Bench.

The Grand Jury returned true bills in the two separate indictments against Frank Beckwith; one charging him with the crime of murder and the other with carrying concealed deadly weapons. The case was continued last Friday on account of the illness of two of the defendant's attorney's.

Joshua Folk of this place who was the prosecutor in the case of Commonwealth versus Newton Shinefelt was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, the grand jury having ignored the bill of indictment and placed the costs upon him.

In the case of Commonwealth vs Harry Miller, Police, of this place who was charged with having committed an assault and battery on James Valance, the grand jury ignored the bill and put the costs on Valence.

Commonwealth vs Emilo Testa was called Tuesday afternoon. This defendant was indicted for escaping board bill by Joseph Mecom. The jury rendered a verdict in which they found the defendant not guilty and placed the costs upon the prosecutor, Joseph Mecom.

The most important case of the week was that of Commonwealth vs J. R. Kutz and Thomas Trafford, who were indicted as follows :—1st. Count: Establishing a gambling house 2nd, Enticing others to visit the gambling house; and 3d, Permitting gambling by proprietors of place of resort and entertainment by pool playing for drinks. H. H. Gunther, Constable of Philipsburg was the prosecutor.

On the 26th day of August 1901 an application was made for a Charter for a Club in Philipsburg, to be called the "Moshannon Social Club" and the Court granted the charter. The Corporation was formed, as stated in the application "for the purpose of maintaining a club for social enjoyment by establishing a fund for the purchase and accumulation of literature, through the medium of books, and magazines, providing rooms for social intercourse, and generally to promote fellowship, increase friendliness, and enlarge the general knowledge of its members by association." The charter was granted under the provisions of an Act of General Assembly of this Commonwealth.

Some time during the winter months the citizens of Philipsburg received knowledge that gambling was being carried on, and they at once informed the authorities at Harrisburg. A young man by the name of A. Walter Sherear, a student at Dickinson College was sent to

SIBLEY ON SMITH.

Calls Upon the President to Dishonorably Discharge Him.

HIS OPINION OF THE NOTED ORDER

To Turn the Island of Samar Into a Howling Wilderness and to Kill All Males Over the Age of Ten Years.

A DRAMATIC SCENE IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Representative Sibley, of Pennsylvania, created something of a sensation in the house yesterday during the general debate on the agricultural appropriation bill by severely denouncing General Jacob H Smith for the orders he issued in the Samar campaign. He declared that General Smith was a disgrace to the uniform he wore and expressed the hope that the president would strip him of his uniform within forty-eight hours. Mr. Sibley's speech was enthusiastically applauded by the democrats and was received with some evidences of approval on the republican side. The speech was considered the more remarkable in that it came from a republican who left the democratic party on the issues raised by the Spanish war, and who since has been an ardent expansionist.

Mr. Sibley said in part : "When I have heard the statements made that we were cruel in the conduct of that war, I have thought perhaps the partisan was speaking. But when I have read, as I have within the past forty-eight hours, that a general wearing the uniform of the United States, one who stands under the shadow of our flag, issues orders, not to conciliate a province, but to leave it a howling wilderness and to kill all above 10 years of age, then it seems to me that humanity must have marched backward for eighteen centuries and that Herod again appears. I have read of Timour, the Tartar; I have read of Attilla, I have read of the Saracen scourge, but I thank God that since the tragic scene on Calvary it has taken eighteen centuries to produce a Smith. I have read of the water cure. I believe that was exaggerated. Can any man whose blood flows in his pulses, can any man who has read his Bible or has been reared at the knee of a Christian woman justify the perpetration of such cruelties upon another man who wears the guise and the image of his Creator? And yet we hear this man attempting to justify acts by which men are pumped so full o' water nearly to drown them and then brought back to life by thumping them over the stomach with the butts of muskets. That is not civilization, that is not Christianizing the world. I am thankful that these are sporadic cases. Against that, as a man who belongs, I hope, not alone to the republican ranks, but to the whole brotherhood of man, the wide world round, I want the members of this house, on this side of the chamber and that, to voice their protest, and against all such measures. [Applause.] A friend of mine said a few moments ago :

"Oh, you had better wait and hear his defense."

"I hope the president of the United States will have the courage, upon what the man admits, to discharge him dishonorably from the service that he has disgraced. (Applause). He admits that he issued the order to leave the province a howling waste and a wilderness and to kill all above 10 years of age, the innocent with the guilty. That man never ought to be permitted to stay in the service of the United States until the sun goes down. He is a disgrace not alone to the army, but to every man who ever wore the uniform of the United States, and he is a blot and disgrace to our present civilization. Wait and hear what his justification may be. That man does not live who can justify such orders. I care not how adroitly his lawyers may frame their plea or how subtle be their reasoning, the fact admitted by his own mouth that he issued such orders is sufficient for the hope that there is the courage and the patriotism and the humanity and the Christianity at the other end of the avenue that will not let him wear the federal uniform twenty-four hours hence."

Farm House Burned at Boalsburg.

The large and comfortable dwelling house on the farm of Lot Kimport near Boalsburg was destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon. The fire caught from a defective flue. The house was occupied by William Colyer, who succeeded in saving all his household furniture.

Mr. Kimport had no insurance on the house and this is the sixth time during his life that he has lost [property by fire.

Ole Bull's Castle Site to be Preserved.

The story of a pretty piece of sentiment comes from lower Potter county. The Goodyear Lumber company, whose axemen are marching in a solid phalanx against the forests of the Kettle creek region, have been enjoined from disturbing the timber surrounding Oleona—the erstwhile home of the famous fiddler, Ole Bull. The Goodyears have decided to leave intact a tract of ten acres near the centre of which is the site and ruins of what was once the castle of the wonderful Norwegian violinist. There is nothing left of the old building now but a pile of stone, but the historic association that attaches to the place is none the less interesting, and the fact that the Messrs. Goodyear intend to preserve the forest surrrounding the place, shows a most commendable public spirit.

The old Oleona tavern still stands along the Coudersport pike, and this hostelry is a quite famous rendezvous for trout fishermen in summer and deer and bear hunters in winter. The Oleo Bull castle was about a half mile east of the Oleona tavern. It was built on the western slope of the mountain, overlooking the Kettle creek valley, which at this point is carpeted with a forest of hardwood and hemlock. Birches, maples and beeches, in autumn, vie with each other in their leafy tints in making a picture of unsurpassing grandeur.

Not far from the Oleona house is a small burying ground wherein lie the remains of the Norwegian colonists who came into the Potter county wilds to live.

The railroads of Weed & Co., from Slate Run, and that of the Cammal and Black Forest, from Cammal, extend to within a few miles of Oleona, so that the historic quarter is no longer as inaccessible as it was in years goneby.

Brakemen Must Yell Three Times.

The passenger brakemen employed on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad have received orders to call out the name of the station three times in each coach so that passengers will have no complaint to make about not hearing the name of the station called. Frequently passengers are carried past their destination because they allege the brakemen did not call out the stations.

This order will no doubt stop the complaints and also develop the vocal cords of the brakemen.

Fire at Clarence.

The large refrigerator building owned by W. R. Haines the wholesale liquor dealer and located near the Beech Creek depot at Clarence was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning. The fire caught from a spark from a passing freight engine on the Beech Creek railroad. Considerable beer and other liquors were destroyed entailing quite a loss.

Lost His Right Leg.

Charles Shaw, a son of J. N. Shaw, of Oak Grove, met with an accident while in Virginia. The son is a cripple and walks on crutches. On April 17, while walking on a railroad track in Virginia, he was struck by a train, knocked down and his right leg crushed. He was removed to the hospital where the member was amputated.

Silk Mill for Jersey Shore.

The firm that owns the silk mill in Lock Haven have decided to erect a mill in Jersey Shore. The building will be put up on the lot about 600 feet northeast of the Fall Brook station. The engineers are running the lines and operations will be started in a short time. The mill will employ when in full operation 500 hands.

Flames Caught His Face.

As Frank Farrell, 25 years old, of Beech Creek, was leaning down near the fire box of his engine at Kittanning Point, on the Pittsburg division, Pennsylvania railroad, Thursday, the door was blown out by an explosion of gas, burning him so badly that his death occurred in the Altoona hospital Tuesday morning. His hair was burned off and his face seared beyond recognition.

—Dr. C. H. Dongal, a well known physician of Milton, is in a precarious condition from a stroke of apoplexy. He was found unconscious in the bath room Friday morning. He is 67 years old.

—Indications are strong that the division encampment of the National Guard will be held at Gettysburg. The decision by the general officers of the guard will be made this week. The date for holding the encampment has been fixed for July 12 to 19.

—John Moltz, a former Williamsporter, who for a number of years has resided in Baltimore, where he runs a commission house, was recently married at the age of 87. His bride is 22. This is Mr. Moltz's second matrimonial venture; his first wife having died several years ago.

WAR ON BIG COMBINE.

Attorney General After Beef Trust People

ACTION TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

Western Ranchman Explains the Methods of Combine and Says Present Prices Are Not Warranted by Scarcity of Feed.

RELIEF NOW IN SIGHT

PITTSBURG, April 27.—Attorney General Knox assured the local packers that he would look into their complaints against the beef trust, and if the railroads were discriminating in their charges it would receive attention from the Inter-State Commerce commission.

John A. Rush, president of the Valley Trust Company, this city, and an owner of a ranch at Cheyenne, Wyoming, said :

"While I do not approve of everything that has been against the Western packers there is no doubt that they have a working agreement, and are able to force up prices or force them down at their pleasure. This has often occurred. For instance, if 10,000 cattle would be shipped in one lot to the market the shipper would know that they would be bought by the big packers, as the smaller dealer could not buy cattle in such large quantities.

"The agents of the packers agree on the prices they will pay for the cattle. They adhere to this agreement. One man buys the cattle at the price agreed upon and then divides them with the other packers. I have no doubt also that they have the same kind of an agreement in regard to the prices of dressed meat.

"The advance in the price of live stock is to some extent due to the increase in the price of feed, but this alone does not account for the advances that have been made in the price of dressed meats. It is estimated that an increase of ten cents in the price of corn means an advance of a cent a pound in the price of the bullock.

"While the increased cost of corn has advanced the live stock proportionately the prices of dressed meats are much higher then they should be in proportion to the price of live stock."

Mr. Rush said he had noticed a large falling off in the purchases of butchers in the last few weeks, since the agitation against the Beef Trust started. The butchers said they were not selling nearly as much meat as formerly and were therefore, obliged to buy less cattle.

J. M. Kidd, of the firm of J. M. Kidd & Co., Liberty avenue, was formerly employed in the railroad service and stated Saturday that it was a matter of common knowledge that the western packers bill their cars without having them weighed by the railroad and overload the cars without paying for the extra freight.

A car billed at the minimum weight of 20,000 pounds can be filled with meat and provisions until it contains 30,000 pounds, the car not being weighed and the trust being exempt from paying the additional freight.

The Western packers pack their butter and eggs in their meat cars with the meat and ship the whole car as meat. When the car is not weighed, as Mr. Kidd says is the custom, it costs the trust nothing to ship butter and eggs. This enables the trust to save the whole rate of 37 cents a hundred on butter and eggs between Chicago and Pittsburg.

If the car should happen to be weighed the trust pays the meat rate of 18 cents a hundred on the butter and eggs, saving in this case 19 cents per hundred, the difference between 37 and 18 cents.

United in Wedlock.

A very pretty wedding took place April 24, 1902 at high noon at the home of Taylor Irwin in Union township. The contracting parties were Mr. William B. Bush, of Boggs township, Clearfield county, and Miss Melissa Irwin, of Union township, Centre county. There were about fifty guests present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Sparks, pastor of the United Brethren church at Runville, and the wedding march was played by Miss Sallie Hancock. After the ceremony an elegant wedding dinner was served which was highly enjoyed by all present. May their pathway be strewn with flowers.

—The corner-stone of the new Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Altoona was laid Sunday with appropriate services in the presence of 10,000 people. The church will be a large structure of brick and will cost $50,000.

THE CLINTONDALE FIRE.

The Funeral of Agnes Felding—Assistance for Aged Mr. Kling.

Clintondale, April 28.—The funeral of little Agnes Felding Saturday afternoon was the largest for a child that was ever held here. The remains were taken to St. Paul's church where Rev. H. I. Crowe conducted the services. Four girls were the casket bearers. The father of the child was not at the funeral, and so far as is known, he has no knowledge of the bereavement in his household. He left home about two weeks ago to work in a lumber camp, and his whereabouts are not known.

The iron safe that dropped into the cellar from Brown's store, was drawn out Friday evening. An expert will be sent for to open it. Mr. Brown states that his plans for the future have not been formed. After the insurance adjusters have settled the claims, he will be better able to decide that question.

All visitors remark that the flames made as clean a job after devouring the buildings, as ever was noticed in a fire swept district. A few stoves in the ruins of the different dwellings the iron goods that were in the store, and a very few charred timber sticks are all that can be seen.

The newly made gardens in the rear of some of the burned houses are silent reminders of the thrift and future prospects of those who were driven from the premises.

J. H. Mussina, of Lock Haven, arrived here Friday and handed Mr. Kling forty-two dollars, being the amount he had collected from the benevolent citizens of Lock Haven. Mr. Kling was visibly affected. All that he could say was "This will buy me a bed, anyhow," Mr. Kling presents a pathetic sight as he walks around with a cane, at the age of 77 years, and with nothing he can call his own except the clothing that he wore at the time the fire broke out. It is feared that the great strain he underwent during the fire will prove too much for his physical condition.

Representatives of insurance companies were here Friday and adjusted the loss on the Evangelical church. No steps have been taken as yet to rebuild the church, as some assistance will have to be received before the contracts can be awarded.

J. S. Harter has announced his intention of rebuilding.

Coal and Coke Production.

The twelve bituminous coal districts of Pennsylvania last year produced 80,914,236 tons of coal, of which 597,631 tons were shipped by rail and river, 1,435,661 tons were used at the collieries and coke ovens for steam and heat and 1,008,457 tons were sold to local trade and used by employes.

The total production of coke in these bituminous districts which include all the coke ovens in Pennsylvania, was 13,125,156 tons, made in 31,841 ovens.

Gems of Thought.

Silence is often an answer.

Miracles are within us, not without us.

It is only the one who is true to himself that can be true to his friends.

Do what you can to make sunshine in the world.

If you are so unhappy as to have a foolish friend be wise yourself.

If you cannot master the whole, yet do not forsake the whole.

Superintendent Malin Resigns.

W. L. Malin, of this place, who has been for some time superintendent of this division of the Central Pennsylvania Telephone company, has resigned his position, and K. C. Raup, of Harrisburg, has been appointed in his place and is now in charge. Mr. Raup was formerly in charge at Altoona.

Judge Gordon's Condition.

We are pleased to state that Judge Cyrus Gordon, who been seriously ill for some time past with erysipelas, is greatly improved and is now out of danger. This will be good news to his many friends in this vicinity.

—The Clinton county Republicans in convention Tuesday endorsed A. E. Patton, of Curwensville, for state senator and gave him power to select his own conferrees. Mr. Patton will unquestionably be the Republican senatorial candidate in the Centre-Clearfield-Clinton district.

—Music Hall, one of the Mountain Seminary building at Birmingham, was totally destroyed by fire on Friday. This is said to be the first fire in the history o Birmingham, which is over one hundred years old.

JUST ESCAPED HANGING.

Dr. Mudd, Who Mended John Wilkes Booth's Broken Leg.

Mudd was a physician, and it was to his house that Booth had ridden on the night of his great crime. There his broken leg had been set, and there he had been secreted for one day. The doctor was an educated man of refined and dignified manner. He had never quite recovered from his surprise that any one should find fault with him for setting a broken bone for a stranger. He always asserted that he did not know Booth and was not aware at the time that Booth had committed a crime. But Mudd had been an ardent secessionist. He was accordingly sentenced to imprisonment for life.

It was a hard fate to be called upon for professional services by a wounded desperado and then narrowly to escape hanging for it. The trial and sentence were a terrible blow, from which Mudd never recovered. He had left a devoted wife at his home in Maryland, and his mental sufferings were so severe that he seemed always on the verge of insanity. He had at first been put to work with a wheelbarrow; but, having never done any manual labor, he was rapidly falling under the combined physical and mental strain. For this reason I directed that he be transferred to the prisoners' hospital as nurse.

There he made himself exceedingly useful, and there he might have remained had not his homesickness in an evil hour overcome his judgment. While a ship lay at the wharf he contrived to get aboard and secrete himself in the coal bunkers. He was of course discovered, and then he learned what he did not know before, that no ship was allowed to sail until it was ascertained that every prisoner was in his place. He was immediately placed in solitary confinement, where he remained several months.—McClure's Magazine.

PELLETS OF SNOW.

How They Fling and Drift In the Adirondack Region.

On a good driftmaking day in the Adirondacks the snow comes not in the star shaped flakes that look so pretty when portrayed on a page of the dictionary, but in small pellets. These pellets are in shape like tiny white footballs usually, and they come rolling and tumbling down wind as if they had been "kicked for fair" by the halfback gods of the gale. And yet while they roll and tumble and bound they find lodging places, and as the idler gazes he sees them pile up in a wall on the crest of the road cut. Higher and higher grows the pile, forming at first a vertical wall, but before this has risen three inches it is seen to overhang the gulch.

Though round and easily rolled, these pellets in some way fit to each other as bricks would, until the overhang is perhaps a fifth as great as the elevation of the wall, and then, marvelous and impossible as it would seem to the unaccustomed observer, a lip forms on the crest of the wall, and soon it begins to droop and hang down. Wider and longer it grows, farther and farther it droops, until its shape is precisely like the lip formed on a huge wave when it breaks on a shoal water beach. Lips that are ten feet wide and hang down three feet clear of all, though but six or eight inches thick where they join the chin of the wall, are not uncommon. By what magic is it that these frozen, oblong pellets that go bounding along as merrily as footballs form into such a shape as that? Of course if the storm continues a time usually comes when the lips break off because of their great weight. And then no new lip forms to replace the lost one. The snow merely drops over into the lee of the wall and gradually fills the cutting.—Scribner's.

OLD TIMES IN TENNESSEE.

When Pelts Were as Plentiful as Pennies In the State.

Probably few people know that the original name of the state of Tennessee was Franklin or that in 1788 the salaries of the officers of this commonwealth were paid in pelts, but the following is a correct copy of the law:

"Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Franklin, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, that from and after the 1st day of January, 1788, the salaries of this commonwealth be as follows—to wit:

"His excellency the governor, per annum, 100 deerskins.

"His honor the chief justice, 500 deerskins.

"The secretary to his excellency the governor, 500 raccoon skins.

"County clerk, 300 beaver skins.

"Clerk of the house of commons, 200 raccoon skins.

"Justice's fee for serving a warrant, one minkskin."

At that time the state of Franklin extended to the east bank of the Mississippi river, and on the west bank was that great unknown forest region of Louisiana. It was then a "terra incognita," save a few canoe landings and Indian trading posts on the river banks. It was known as the district of Louisiana and in 1805 was made the territory of Louisiana.

The state of Franklin, which became Tennessee in 1796, was almost as little known. The now great city of Memphis was a mere trading post and was not laid out as a village until 1820.

Pelts were as plentiful in those days as pennies and much better distributed for purposes of currency and barter. The pioneers were perhaps as happy and as well contented as is the average citizen now.—Arkansas Gazette.

COOKING HINTS.

Don't add lard, molasses or sugar to bread if you wish to keep well and be wholesome.

Potatoes baked thoroughly, but not allowed to turn dark, are the best to be used for creamed potatoes.

If salad dressing curdles when being mixed, add a little cold water, stir quickly, and it will become quite smooth.

If tea be ground like coffee or crushed immediately before boiling water is poured upon it, it will yield nearly double the amount of its exhilarating qualities.

If a sliced onion and carrot are cooked with veal, it will be found that the flavor of the rather tasteless meat is much improved. Veal cutlets rely for their flavor on the tomato sauce that is usually served with them.

A delightful flavor is sometimes given to steak by placing it overnight in a bath of oil and vinegar. In the morning it is wiped before the broiling, but enough of the mixture has been absorbed to give it a decided flavor.

If in making split pea soup a teacupful of whipped cream is put in the tureen just as the soup is poured over, the improvement in flavor of the soup will be noticeable. This puree has sometimes a flat, even watery taste that is not at all agreeable, which the whipped cream entirely removes.

General Grant's Namesake.

A number of years ago a son was born to a colored woman in the south, and as he was her first she looked upon him with pride and was much at a loss to find a name for him. Relatives and friends, including her mistress, were appealed to; but, although many names were suggested, all were discarded.

After many days of deliberation she said one morning to her mistress: "Miss Mary, I'ze found a name for my boy. I'm going to name him Delicious."

"Why," said the lady, "where did you get that name?"

"Oh," she cried, "I'm going to call him that 'cause I want to name him for Mr. Grant."

When it was explained to her that the great hero was named Ulysses and not Delicious, she was somewhat disturbed in mind, but Ulysses did not please her, so the boy had to begin life burdened with the name Egbert Eugene.—Detroit Free Press.

Finding For the Lawyer.

Sometimes the jury returns a verdict for the lawyer, of which the following is a good instance: Mr. John Jones, a barrister of great influence and ability, was a leading counselor practicing in the Welsh circuit. Upon one occasion after a felicitous speech on behalf of his client in a criminal case the jury as soon as the judge had summed up, without waiting for the officer to take their verdict, called out, "My lord, we are all for John Jones, with costs!"—London Tit-Bits.

At Home.

"Can you talk on your feet?" said the young man who was thinking ruefully of the time he tried to make an after dinner speech.

"I can," was the answer, accompanied by the baleful smile of a person who is about to make a deliberate joke. "I used to lecture on chiropody."—Washington Star.

Piqued.

"What's the matter with grandfather?"

"He's insulted. You see, he's nearly ninety, and he happened to hear you remark that the good die young."—Chicago Post.

Step Toward It.

"Darling, may I consider myself your accepted lover?"

"Well—er—er— hardly that! But for the present you may consider yourself my prevailing fad."—Stray Stories.

A Mean Insinuation.

"Do the birds come and pick up the breadcrumbs from your hotel lawn?"

"They used to before my wife began to make her own bread."—Judge.

Kodol Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

People once thought that the only way to cure indigestion was to stop eating. The trouble with such treatment is, that to stop eating is to stop living. KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE has changed the whole method of treating this complaint. It contains all the natural digestive fluids and digests all you eat without aid from the stomach, so you can eat all the good food you want and be cured of your trouble at the same time.

"I have been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia for several years and often sat down to eat but had to give it up after eating only two bites. I used two bottles of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE and am alright to-day. Can now eat anything I want. W. L. Easton, Audubon, Iowa."

It can't help but do you good

Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1. bottle contains 2½ times the 50c. size.

When you suffer from biliousness or constipation, use the famous little liver pills known as DeWitt's Little EARLY RISERS. They never gripe.

C. M. PARRISH.

Too Familiar.

It was the 6 o'clock rush hour, and the Sixth avenue elevated station at One Hundred and Sixteenth street was packed with an impatient crowd trying to escape to their homes.

In the thick of it was a colored figure, apparently that of a plump little girl of eleven or twelve. She was having a hard struggle in the crush, and a big, good natured man behind her just put his hands on her shoulders to help her along.

"Sir!" piped a shrill but quite mature voice as she turned so violently that she created an eddy in the crowd and turned upon the big fellow a pair of snapping black eyes.

"Caesar's ghost! It's a woman!" he exclaimed as he made an opening for himself through the laughing throng and fled in pink faced dismay.—New York Mail and Express.

Lieutenant General Miles and former Governor D. H. Hastings will be among the principal guests of honor.

Like Tearing the Heart Strings.

"It is not within the conception of man to measure my great sufferings from heart disease. For years I endured almost constant cutting and tearing pains about my heart and many a time would have welcomed death. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart has worked a veritable miracle."—Thos. Hicks, Perth, Ont.—30

The Promoters.

"Let us make the capital stock $1,000,000,000," said the first promoter.

"All right," said the second, who was preparing the prospectus on the typewriter.

"Will it be hard to increase that capital?" asked the first.

"No, indeed. All I have to do is to hit the '0' key a few more times."—Baltimore American.

A Devoted Parent.

"Dawson is one of the most devoted fathers I ever knew."

"How so?"

"He's so proud of his children. Why, say, he often lies awake half the night trying to think up clever things that he can credit them with saying."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Juvenile Idea.

"Willie, do you know what happens to the bad little boys?"

"Sure."

"What?"

"They have more fun than the good little boys."—Chicago Post.

A New Station at Mill Hall.

The New York Central railroad will soon erect their new station on the Beech Creek road at Mill Hall. The plans contemplate the removal of the present building to a point farther eastward and using it exclusively as a freight station. The new building will be put up on the present site. It will be an up to date station. Mill Hall is one of the best shipping points along the line for the Beech Creek road.

FIRE AT CLINTONDALE!

Pretty Little Village Almost Wiped Off the Earth.

OVER SCORE OF BUILDINGS BURNED

Church, School House, W. C. T. U. Hall, Store, Ware House, Residences and Stables Consumed—Loss is $30,000—Little Child Missing.

THE LOGANS LEND TIMELY AID

The little town of Clintondale, Clinton county, nestling beside Fishing creek and along the line of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, twenty miles from Bellefonte and ten miles from Lock Haven, was practically wiped out Wednesday evening by a fierce fire which swept it from one end to the other. Only six houses, a blacksmith shop, a stone grist mill and a large area of smoking ruins remain to show where one of the prettiest and most prosperous little towns of its size in the state once stood.

The fire started in the barn of Willard G. Brown about half-past five o'clock and the high wind blowing at the time sent the sparks in every direction. Handsome residences the Evangelical church, W. C. T. U. hall, school house, store, warehouse and a number of barns soon fell a prey to the greedy flames, entailing a loss of between thirty and forty thousand dollars.

Clintondale is a village of about 300 inhabitants and, of course, has no fire department, but the citizens worked hard to save their homes and property. Their efforts were, however, of little avail against the terrible spread of flames. About 7 o'clock Bellefonte was telephoned to for assistance and the Logan Fire Company was ordered to the scene of conflagration. The message received was an imploring one. They said "For God's sake come to our aid or the whole town will be destroyed." The Logans were delayed somewhat in starting owing to the breaking of the king-bolt while loading their engine on the flat car. They left Bellefonte at 8:05, the train being in charge of Train Dispatcher L. T. Munson. Charles Gilmore was the engineer and William Dyke the fireman. The train consisted of a flat car and coach. The run was made in thirty minutes. Luckily they did not have to unload the engine from the flat car. The car was stopped on the railroad bridge over Fishing creek within easy distance of the fire. The hose cart was unloaded and the water pumped from the creek; 1,000 feet of hose were used and the Logans soon had a splendid stream of water on the fire.

When the firemen reached the scene the greater part of the town was destroyed but by their efforts the further spread of the flames was prevented and the stone grist mill of the White Milling Company and the residences of Dr. Huston and T. F. Ohl, which were on fire, were saved.

The scene presented by the fire was one not soon to be forgotten by those who witnessed it. The town extends along one main street about three-fourths of a mile. All that remains is a stone grist mill, two or three frame and stone houses at one end of the village and two frame houses and a blacksmith shop almost a mile in the other direction. Between these points smouldering ashes are all that is left.

To add to the excitement it was reported during the evening that little Agnes Felding, the six year old daughter of Mr. Lemuel Felding was missing and fears were entertained that she perished in the flames. She was last seen going toward the Felding barn which was later destroyed by fire.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Brown has a sick horse which he was doctoring and the theory is advanced that possibly a match was accidentally dropped by some one in going in or out of the stable.

The heaviest losers are W. G. Brown, the White Milling Company, J. S. Harter Harry Snyder, the Evangelical church and the school board. The Clintondale band lost a valuable set of instruments, music etc. The W. C. T. U. hall and public library was also a serious loss.

W. G. Brown, owner of the store, and the White Milling Company's combined loss will reach $15,000, partially covered by insurance. Squire Harters loss is $1200.00. The churches loss is about $1500 with $1000 insurance. There was $800 insurance on the school building which will fully cover the loss. Many of the families rendered homeless lost furniture and everything without a cent of insurance.

The properties destroyed are as follows: W. F. Brown, store house and barn; White Milling Company, warehouse, grain etc., Evangelical church; Public school building; J. S. Harter; house and stable; Samuel Shilling, house and stable; Harry Snyder, house and stable; James Hayes, house and stable, Isaac Kling, house and stable, Mrs. Sue Rishel house and barn, Mrs. John Rishel, house and stable, Lem Felty, barn; David Wolf barn; W. C. T. U. hall and library; Samuel Oberndorf, barn, Harry Kling, house.

Mrs. John Rishel who lost her home without insurance is a widow 84 years old. Isaac Kling who lost his home and all, is past 77 years. He had no insurance.

LATER—The remains of little Agnes Felding, who was supposed to have met death in the flames, was found in the mill race at noon Thursday.

Materials and Labor.

From many cities of the state comes the story that the building operations are halted and must be considerably curtailed on account of the increased cost of materials and labor. Together it is claimed these have increased 33 per cent. in the past three years, and one half of that was during the last year alone. Contractors and builders are in a quandary, as at the present prices of materials they can not carry out plans long ago matured, and some will execute existing contracts only at a loss.

In most places plans had been formulated for extensive operations, there being great need of dwelling houses, particularly in the manufacturing towns where population has increased far beyond the present accommodations for housing families. Many of these plans, it is reported, are to be abandoned, The increase in prices has been mainly in the structural part of the work, the finishing not having advanced. According to some of the contractors the increase has not reached its limit. It is asserted by the dealers that the advance is simply in accord with the general advance in all lines and is controlled by the supply and demand. It is not to be understood, however, that this condition interferes with all building. On the contrary this year will undoubtedly be a great one in many respects, but not altogether up to what was planned.

Game Shippers Discharged.

Judge Archbald, of the Federal Court of the Middle Pennsylvania District, filed an opinion setting aside the indictment in the Blooming Grove case, in which seven New York and New Jersey residents were charged with violating the Lacey bill, an act of Congress, prohibiting the surreptitious removal of game from the state in which it is killed.

The defendants on October 21, 1901, were coming from Blooming Grove park, in Pike county, Pa., with satchels containing a hundred or more pheasants, and a box enclosing the carcass of a deer, when Dr. Kalbfus, chief of the Pennsylvania game commission, intercepted them at the railroad station and placed them under arrest on the charge of violating the Lacey act, in having prepared for shipment packages containing dead animals and birds killed in violation of local game laws.

Judge Archbald decided that the defendants were not amenable because the game was not shipped out of the state, and therefore, the offense charged was not completed.

Tag Took Him 4,2000 Miles.

Ten years old George Dillman recently completed a journey of 4,200 miles by the aid of a tag and a ticket. He was sent from Austria-Hungary, to this country alone and arrived at Mahanoy city with more money than when he started. The lad is an orphan, and when his parents died they left just enough money to pay his passage to relatives here who were willing to make a miner of him. He left a farming region about 250 miles from Vienna three weeks ago. Every where he was well treated. Kind fellow passengers gave kreulzers, pfenning and later silver pieces of Uncle Sam's money. The steamship landed him at New York.

He was put on a train and for five hours he sped westward until he was at his destination. His tag was still intact, his ticket was gone, but in his pocket there were many pieces of money, for he had made friends whose sympathy and interest were expressed in cash.

Holds Up a Congressman.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking, I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all-around medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter." Over-worked, run-down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed at Green's Pharmacy.

A Sudden Twinge

Of pain is generally the first warning of an attack of rheumatism. It feels as if the disease were in the bones or muscles, but the real cause of rheumatism is found in impure blood. In order to cure rheumatism the blood must be cleansed of the poisonous impurities which are the cause of the disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been very successful in the cure of rheumatism, because it entirely cleanses the blood from the poisonous substances which are the cause of the disease. It not only purifies the blood but by increasing the activity of the blood-making glands, it increases the supply of pure, rich blood which adds to the vigor of every physical organ.

Mr. R. A. McKnight, of Cades, Williamsburg Co., S. C., writes: "I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad at times I could not leave my bed. I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head), would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. Everybody who saw me said I must die. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of 'Pellets,' and to-day my health is good after suffering twelve years with rheumatism."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

CLINTONDALE.

The Citizens are Greatly in Need of Help.

The burned out residents of Clintondale are making the best of the situation. All have found homes. Some have rented other buildings near by, which others are being sheltered in the houses that escaped the flames. As the greater number of the victims had no insurance, no steps have yet been taken towards rebuilding.

Hundreds of sight-seers visit the scene daily to view the ruins.

The finding of the dead body of little Agnes Felding cast more of a gloom over the town than the fire. Many people crowded into the Feldnig home to tender sympathy to the grief stricken parents. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, the services being conducted in Mt Bethel church by Rev. H. I. Crowe.

The spot where the child was found was on the Rishel farm about a quarter of a mile below the village. An arm sticking out of the water attracted the attention of the searching party. The body was placed in a spring-wagon and conveyed to the parents home.

Considerable money is being raised by contribution for the fire sufferers, who are many of them in a pitiable condition and greatly in need of help.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Variable Weather Has Produced Erratic Fluctuations.

PLANTS ARE WELL EMPLOYED

The Rise in Wheat Attributable in Part to the Skillful Manipulation of the Stock Market—A Decrease in Exports.

FAILURES FOR THE PAST WEEK

NEW YORK, April 26.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade this morning says:

Variable weather has produced erratic fluctuations in prices and affected business very differently, according to locality. The extremes were blizzards and oppressive heat, with every intermediate variety.

Retail distribution of merchandise has maintained a good average, losses at some points being offset by gains elsewhere. Manufacturing plants are well employed, except where wage disputes interrupt.

Most large consumers of pig iron have provided for their needs well up to the end of the year and consequently there is little change to report in the situation except as to small orders that appear from time to time.

Quotations received by cable indicate that pressure in the United States has produced a decided advance abroad and imports, after paying duty and freight, are extremely expensive. Movement of partially manufactured and finished steel products continues on a large scale. A severe set back in London tin production caused a decline here, but other minor metals are without special features. Increased output and quicker deliveries of coke facilitate work at iron furnaces and reduce the price, while the lower list for anthracite coal has stimulated orders.

Lumber and building materials are having the usual spring activity.

Manufacturers of cotton goods are still behind with deliveries and active machinery is assured for some time to come. Labor disputes have been temporarily adjusted, making the output very heavy as compared with recent weeks when the strikes were causing interruption.

Footwear shops at the east have few new orders and shipments from Boston continue to decrease.

While the prospects for a full yield of wheat are less bright than they were a week ago, the sharp rise in price must be attributed in part to skillful manipulations by interests recently prominent in the stock market. A year ago there was a sharp advance in price on gloomy reports, yet the final yield promises to be a record breaker. Exports from all ports of the United States, including flour, were 4,041,614 bushels, against 3,433,987 last year, shipments being mainly of wheat purchased before the advance. Corn was attracted to market by the better terms offered, receipts for the week reached 1,394, 479 bushels, against 1,138,498 a year ago, but Atlantic exports fell off to 3 40,237 bushels against 1,275, 156 in 1901.

Failures for the week numbered 212 in the United States against 215 last year and eighteen in Canada against twenty-six a year ago,

Killed a Big Blacksnake.

Gazett and Bulletin: The snake season is opening early this year. Saturday afternoon Moses Sondheimer, the well known insurance agent, came across a six foot blacksnake on Bald Eagle mountain that seriously objected to being disturbed in its sunbath. The angry reptile threw itself into an aggressive attitude, and with head erect and flashing eyes defied attack. When Mr. Sondheimer made a pass at it the snake showed a disposition to become the attacking party itself and started in to drive the insurance man off the side of the mountain. Fortunately, however, a well aimed or may be a chance stone, broke the ebony serpent's back, and the rest of the battle was easy. The snake measured a trifle less than six feet, and was a splendid specimen of its kind.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

Tyrone Men Losses Life by Fall of Heavy Safe.

Wednesday the office of the Burley Heater company at Tyrone was being removed from the building adjoining the Arlington House on Logan Avenue to the second floor of the First National Bank building, and among the property was a safe weighing about 1400 pounds. By the use of ropes and tackle and a chain the safe was being taken up the long stairway leading from Pennsylvania avenue to the new office, and when it had reached the upper step a link of the chain broke precipitating the safe to the bottom of the stairway.

Several men were engaged at the work of handling the safe, all of whom were above except H. G. Elder and Harry Yon, who were below handling the blocking as the safe was moved up by degrees, Elder on the right and Yon on the left side of the stairway. As the safe topped over it sheered toward Elder and pressed him against the wall. It then rolled to the bottom of the stairs where it crushed and buried itself in the floor. The safe struck Mr. Elders on the left side and crushed his breast, beside breaking the collar bone and inflicting a few bruises on the body. He was at once removed to his home on Logan avenue adjoining the First Methodist church, where several doctors were summoned, but who could render no help, for the unfortunate man died ten minutes before 1 o'clock, the accident having occurred at about twenty minutes before 12 o'clock. He was partially conscious after being taken home, but evidently did not at any time fully realize how badly he was injured. Yon quickly threw himself to the other side and escaped injured.

Horace Greeley Elders was aged 45 years, 10 months and 9 days, having been born June 14, 1856, in Half Moon valley, Centre county, where his father was engaged in farming. He remained at the farm home during all his early life, becoming a school teacher at the age of 17. He afterwards continued at farming, but soon after his marriage engaged in other pursuits.

In 1879 Mr. Elder was united in marriage to Miss Clara E. VanValin, of Unionville. They resided at Half Moon, then at Stormstown, Curwensville and Philipsburg, finally locating at Bellwood where Mr. Elder engaged in mercantile work and then in railroad, until about twelve years ago when he received an appointment as railway postal clerk on the Pennsylvania railroad. Shortly after his accepting this position, in February, 1891 the family removed to Tyrone where they have ever since resided. Mr Elder continued as postal clerk, his route of late years being on the Tyrone & Clearfield branch, and he gave up the position only Tuesday to take up the management of the plant of the Burley Heater company.

The widow and six children survive also three brother and one sister. The sister is Mrs. Fannie E. Gray of State College.—Tyrone Herald.

Remodeling Church.

The Reformed church at Boalsburg is being remodeled. The pipe organ has been removed and will be rebuilt in the front of the church. The contract for the work on the church building has been given to Wm. Steel, of Bellefonte, and the rebuilding of the organ will be done by a Reading man.

Her Clothing Caught Fire.

Mrs. T. S. Bailey of Baileyville had a narrow escape from being burned to death one day this week. She was boiling soap in the back yard when her clothing caught fire. She started to run into the house for a piece of carpet to smother it when she bethought herself that she might set the house afire, and no one would be near to help her. Hence she ran to the blacksmith shop, where the men succeeded in putting out the fire, but not before the hands of one or two, including Mrs. Bailey's, were severely burned.

EDITORIAL.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT made a great public hit when he lassoed Funston and shut him up. The people have tired of megaphone heroes.

Isn't it about time for another rumor to go the rounds connecting the name of our President Judge with a place on the superior bench of the state?

If things are not coming your way in this section of your Uncle Sam's possessions try Alaska. It is said that there 200,000 families can secure homesteads of 320 acres each.

It is asserted that horseflesh is more nutritious than beef. If such is really the case the United States government should stop the sale of horses and mules to the British government for use in South Africa, pending the termination of the crusade against the beef trust. We may have to fall back on the horse if the trust comes out on top.

THE latest "roller-coaster" to provide a new nervous sensation is a shute from which a car plunges under water and comes up again without wetting the occupants. It is peculiarly constructed and the velocity of the boat exceeds the velocity of the falling water it displaces, which literally does not have time to come in. This new freak amusement may expect the usual patronage of fools.

THE Philadelphia Inquirer seems to be greatly exercised over the tendency of rural newspapers to misspell Elkin's name. The Keystone Gazette has been an offender having published the name in a recent issue John B. Elkin and again with a final "s" to Elkin. In each instance the Inquirer paid its respects to the Gazette. We suggest to our friend Harter that hereafter he spells Elkin's name D-E-N-N-I-S and then he is sure to be correct, for such his name is and will be.

THE ONLY WAY.

The Quay-Elkin gubernatorial mix up still continues to hold the centre of the political stage in Pennsylvania. Senator Quay maintains the same profound silence in regard to his choice for the nomination and the Indiana Plow Boy is in the meanwhile picking up stray delegates here and there and is making a great show of strength in localities where the administration loyalty is above par by reason of the influence and coercion of local state official control in the party organization.

There is a feeling among the class of Republicans imbued with the Elkin spirit that the Attorney General will drive the Old Man to the wall and win the day at the State Convention. This feeling is held too by a class who think that Quay is playing one of his old tricks and when the proper time arrives he will acknowledge Elkin's strength and popularity (?) and will waive his personal interests in the contest and consent to Elkin's nomination. With the deep thinking and conservative Republicans, however, the sentiment is firmly established that Elkin is not and will not be a factor in the gubernatorial nomination at the State Convention. Quay ordered him to go away back and sit down and while he has resisted the command and to all appearances is in the fore front of the fray at the head of his forlorn hope he has nevertheless been relegated to the rear and his boom with him. The Republican nominee will not be John "Plow Boy" Elkin.

The question naturally arises—in fact it arose sometime ago and has since caused and is causing no end of political speculation—who will be the lucky—or unlucky—man. The "favorite son" process which Quay is said to have instituted for the purpose of achieving his ends, presents to the expectant public the names of twenty or more prominent, and otherwise, Republicans each one of whom is said to have been considered by the Dictator. The list of available gubernatorial timber, which appears elsewhere in this page bears a pretty strong machine impression all along the line. Some of the eligibles are out and outers in the machine service, others are mildly disposed in that direction and a few can be classified as "not proven". Just the same the choice of the Republican State Convention is likely to be a man of Quay's selection and to the thousands of independent Republicans in Pennsylvania that choice will be no more, or less, objectionable than would be Elkin. It will be simply a case of six of one and a half a dozen of another.

We firmly believe the next governor of Pennsylvania will be the people's choice but it does not follow by any means that Quay will father the choice. We would like to see the State Convention name a thorough Republican, honest, capable, free from factional prejudices and safe from the influence and cajolery of professional politicians, individual and collective. Such a man is to be had but such a man would not size up to the requirements of Quay and the interests he represents and protects, such a man is not likely to be named at the Republican State Convention. The candidate of the people and for the people will have to follow in the wake of a fusion movement. We believe the people of Pennsylvania, independent of political ties and tendencies, are ready and willing to rally to the support of another Yerkes and Coray campaign. An independent—fusion ticket, it seems to us, holds the only chance for the redemption of Pennsylvania. With good, clean, honest, men to be the standard bearers of the movement, victory in November would surely mark the end of machine rule and Quayism in the Keystone Commonwealth.

MODERN grammarians are coming more and more to the belief that good usage is the best anthority for written and spoken language, and there is a general recognition that the dictionary and rules of syntax were "made for man, and not man for them."

REPUBLICAN GUBERNATORIAL POSSIBILITIES.

The list of Republican gubernatorial possibilities is steadily growing and it is evident the "favorite son" idea advanced by the "Old Man" is responsible for the free for all appearance of the race to be pulled off at Harrisburg on June 11th. Most of the possibilities comprising the list to date may be regarded as impossibilities, yet the winner's name may prove to be among the following: Attorney General John P. Elkin, of Indiana; ex-senator J. D. Cameron, of Dauphin; Congressman Jos. C. Sibley, of Venango, Adjutant General, Thos. J. Stewart, of Montgomery; ex-lieutenant governor L. A. Watres, of Lackawanna; Congressman M. E. Olmsted, of Dauphin; Congressman Mahon, of Franklin, Attorney General P. E. Knox, of Allegheny; Maj. Gen'l. John R. Brooke, of the U. S. Army; State Senator Sproul, of Delaware, Wesley R. Andrews, of Crawford—Penrose's secretary and "Bull's" brother, Judge Jerome B. Niles, of Tioga; Judge S. W. Pennypacker, of Philadelphia; Judge D. Newlin Fell, of Bucks county; justice of the Supreme court, Judge Jno. B. McPherson, of the U. S. court for the eastern district, formerly of Dauphin county; ex-auditor general Levi G. McCauley, of Chester; Francis J. Torrance, of Allegheny; W. J. Whitehouse, of Schuylkill; Col. Samuel Moody, of Beaver; and Congressman William Connell, of Lackawanna.

The "favorite son" craze will likely add to the list in the near future such prominent and distinguished party leaders as Senator Ben Focht, of Union; Cappy Clarke, of Lawrence; John "Oleo" Hamilton, of Centre; Larry B. Eyre, of Chester; Alderman Jones, of Lehigh; and sich like. There are names to conjurewith. Ex-postmaster general Charles Emory Smith has been prominently mentioned but he is an impossibility for the reason that he is an extreme opponent to Quayism and everything concerned in or identified with the machine and machine politics.

THREE Chicago children were recently sent home by their teacher with a note that they could not return until they had been given a bath. The mother responded that she would not risk bathing her children in the winter. A test case was made of it and the courts decided that the authority of the schoolroom stopped at the threshold of the home door, though it was possible to give the children a bath at school as part of the school requirement. It maybe that in the near future bath-rooms will be considered necessary adjuncts to our public school system.

Dangerous if Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yankeetown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits. C. M. Parrish.

We have been asked if Centre county is to have a "sink or swim" Elkin Club. Not being in the confidence of our local Elkinites we are unable to give a definite answer to the query. We therefore, beg to refer all interested to John Hamilton, Judge Love, E. R. Chambers, W. E. Gray, W. I. Fleming, Tom McCafferty or John K. Thompson.

It is said that John "Oleo" Hamilton is preparing to come to the front with his organ, the College Times, in support of the candidacy of John "Plow Boy" Elkin, his colleague in the cabinet of the "I was not bribed" governor.

INFLUENCE OF THE GRANGE.

Senator Quay Mindful of Farmers Wishes. Letters and Protests from Patrons and Dairymen had Great Weight in Side-tracking Gov. Stone's Gubernatorial Candidate.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Many patrons and farmers unfortunately labor under the delusion that it is useless to address letters to prominent leaders of political parties. This is a very wrong impression. It is the duty of every farmer, patron and dairymen whose interests have been so outrageously neglected by such officials as Gov. Stone, Atty. General Elkin, Secy. Hamilton, Food Commissioner Cope et. al, to protest to the party leaders in no uncertain way.

It is also proper when public officials who are honest and faithful to commend and uphold them. This the grange has done.

Secy. Jno. Hamilton, and others of the Stone-Elkin gang have systematically endeavored to belittle the grange in every way possibly and worked to impress on party leaders that it was an organization without influence. That the members of the Penna. State Grange number all told only 10,000 to 12,000 persons and these were chiefly women and minors. That but a small number of electors were members and these were, with few exceptions "chronic kickers", democrats and prohibitionists.

That the wants of the "grangers" should not be considered as they, collectively, were of no importance in State political affairs.

These false and misleading statements coming as they did from the head of the Agricultural Department and many of the attaches of this branch of the disreputable Stone—Elkin—Hamilton crowd deceives for a considerable time the leaders of both the republican and democratic parties and did much to injure our order.

"TRUTH IS MIGHTY AND WILL PREVAIL"

Is an old and true saying. The force of this is shown in the following extract from one of the leading Phila. papers which refers to the great influence which patrons had in aiding Senator Quay and his colleague to very sensibly cast Mr. Jno. P. Elkin in the political rubbish heap:

"An incident, freshly disclosed, of the Elkin affair, was an avalanche of letters to Quay in consequence of the canvassing among the branches of the State Grange some weeks ago. On one day Quay is said to have received several hundred letters, calling his attention to the insignificant support given to Elkin among the Republican grangers consulted, as compared with the overwhelming preponderance of favor for Pattison in the Democratic element. The managers of Gubernatorial Candidate Watres' canvass believe that the grangers' declaration did about as much as the influence from the National Committee or the arguments of representative business men of this State to precipitate the Quay ultimatum to Elkin."

The work done by patrons throughout the State is most commendable and shows conclusively that the party leaders are really anxious to satisfy requests properly made of the rural voter. Since the grangers have spoken so strongly in favor of Ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison county after county has instructed its delegates for him.

The Stone gang which is trying to force their favorite Jno. P. Elkin on the Republican ticket know if he is defeated it means their political death, and certain of this unsavory clan, will be retired if he is defeated in June. These men are desperate and will go to any extreme to have him put on the ticket.

In view of this condition of affairs we urge all republican patrons and farmers who do not endorse the unsavory record of Gov. W. A. Stone, and his candidate Jno. P. Elkin, to write letters to Senators M. S. Quay and Boies Penrose, U. S. Senate Washington, D. C., and thank them for refusing to support Elkin and the Stone—Hamilton Oleo Administration and urge them to support an honest, upright man for Governor like Hon. L. A. Watres, whose 8 years in State Senate and 4 years as Lieutenant Gov. proved he never failed in his loyalty to farmers, dairymen and patrons. Our anti-oleo and tax bills always received the support of Hon. L. A. Watres. If he is elected Governor he will not issue any infamous postscript letters nor will he aid in robbing the people. He willl not allow his Attorney General to wink at violations of law by oleo dealers, nor will he give dealers through his Agricultural Department the right to sell in violation of law poisoned food stuffs as is now being done through the direction of Secretary Jno. Hamilton via "me too" Jesse Cope.

Aid to nominate and elect men like Hon. L. A. Watres or Robt. E. Pattison and the Penna. State Grange will have a most loyal and honest man in Governor's chair.

THE LOGIC OF PRESENT FACTS.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

The reasons prompting Quay's rejection of Elkin as a candidate for Governor are unimportant.

The important consideration is the situation as it is. Elkin, whom the people had come to look upon as the personification of the scandalous State Administration of which he has been the legal adviser, and whose candidacy stands for a continuation of the reprehensible methods of that Administration.

In such an issue there ought to be no question as to the attitude of those decent Republicans who wish to participate in the primaries in almost two-thirds of the counties of the State, which are yet to select delegates to the Republican State Convention. There should not, there need not, be any compromise with Quay.

Whether the selection of a candidate be good or bad, he can be no worse than Elkin and in all probability will be decidedly better. At least, he is certain to be antagonistic to Elkin and the Gang that has been holding hideous carnival at Harrisburg since Governor Stone assumed office.

Moreover, there is ground for hope that the great vested industrial and commercial interests of the State, weary of the "macing" and "bleeding" to which they have been subjected in recent years, will be able to bring sufficient pressure to bear on Quay to induce him to insist on the nomination of an honest man for Governor.

Meanwhile the logical position for decent Republicans is that, in the absence of a worse candidate, they may well accept assistance from any source in making Elkin's nomination impossible.-North American.

Traveling is Dangerous.

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travelers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much suffer from kidney diseases in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder diseases. Geo. H. Hansan, locomotive engineer, Lima, O., writes. "Constant vibration of the engine caused me a great deal of trouble with my kidneys, and I got no relief until I used Foley's Kidney Cure." C. M. Parrish.

SENATOR HAMPTON RICE.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

The farmers and citizens of Bucks county should not fail to renominate Senator Hampton Rice to the State senate.

There was no more faithful representative of the farmer's interests than Mr. Rice. He labored in season and out of season for legislation demanded by the agricultural class and he had no part with the gang that were robbing the state and plundering the people. He was always faithful to his party organization and endeavored to direct legislation in the interest of the people.

The voters of Bucks county should use their best endeavors to again return him to the State senate and help redeem the State from the corrupt political gang at Harrisburg.

A Revelation.

If you will make inquiry it will be a revelation to you how many succumb to kidney or bladder troubles in one form or another. If the patient is not beyond medical aid, Foley's Kidney Cure will cure. It never disappoints. C. M. Parrish.

FAILURE TO PROMOTE HARMONY IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY HAS SEVERELY JOLTED ELKIN'S BOOM.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Former Lieutenant Governor Louis A. Watres of Lackawanna county, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, was in the city yesterday and held several long conferences with the Olivers and Bigelows.

Watres chances for securing the nomination are growing brighter every day, and that the mixup in this county, is the key to the whole situation.

The former Lieutenant Governor arrived yesterday morning. He came direct from Washington in company with George T. Oliver.

Watres called on Henry W. Oliver. The two discussed the Gubernatorial situation for some time and Watres was apparently well pleased with what he learned.

From Mr. Oliver's office he went direct to that of T. S. Bigelow. They were closeted for some time, but at the conclusion of the interview neither would go into detail as to what was discussed.

The Gubernatorial situation was admitted to be the principal subject talked of and Watres was assured that there will be no harmony deal countenanced by any of the leaders who are now ranged against the State machine and Elkin whereby the latter will secure the delegates to the State Convention from this county.

He was seen at the Hotel Duquesne and asked:

"What is your opinion of the situation now as compared to a month ago?"

"My chances are growing brighter every day. I do not believe that Elkin will remain in the fight until the time for holding the State convention."

"Do you think he will be nominated in case he does not withdraw before that time?"

"No; I do not. I do not think he could be elected if he was nominated."

"What is your opioion of the general situation throughout the State?"

"It is just what I thought it would be when I entered the race six months ago. The public is thoroughly posted as to the conditions that prevail in the Republican party. I have assisted to an extent in producing this impression and for that I have no apologies to offer. I entered the race as a candidate, believing that before the party convention there would be a full appreciation of these conditions. I am still in the race and will be when the votes are counted at the convention in June. I fully expect to receive the Republican nomination. Harmony is possible in the Republican party, but it will require the elimination of the influences that made possible the Legislature of 1901 and the administration that ruled it."

Watres is satisfied that he will have many of the delegates claimed by Elkin. He says that conventions have been held in but 23 counties and 44 counties remain to hold their conventions. He expects to receive a majority of the delegates yet to be named. Henry W. Oliver was seen after his meeting with Watres, but refused to discuss politics.

REGARDED AS SIGNIFICANT.

The statements made by Watres after his talk with all of the State leaders, including the Bigelows and Olivers, are regarded as very significant.

BOTTLED SUNSHINE.

NATURE'S GREAT FACTORY IN WHICH IS PRODUCED COAL.

A Lump of the Mineral Tells Its Interesting Million Year History In a Few Words—A Wonderful Process of Evolution.

Your life to mine is as a second to a thousand years. I will let you know that in my time I have seen such sights as would make you gasp in astonishment. Once, in untold ages past, long before man had appeared on this old world, I was alive. Yes, the dirty old piece of coal was a living thing in those dim, distant ages. A thing of beauty, too—a thing to be admired. I was a fern. Not such a paltry thing as you decorate your homes with and grow in little earthenware affairs. My trunk alone measured five feet across.

Yet I was nothing out of the ordinary. In those days there were many little plants forty feet or so in height. Every bit of coal you toss about in such heedless fashion once was a living plant—a plant which grew and flourished, even as your plants of today grow and flourish. But in these degenerate days plants are poor, feeble little things. Plants were plants in those days. We had no petted and pampered ferns. We had no houses of glass, artificially kept warm so that the poor little dears shouldn't get cold. Those were the days of real ferns, of healthy ferns free from all newfangled nonsense about fertilizers and soils and aspects and such childish weaknesses.

In those early days the earth was not as it is today. It was hotter, for it had cooled from a globe of molten rock. Its atmosphere was heavy with warm vapors; close and oppressive, you would call it, but it just suited us, as we grew and luxuriated in it. The earth's crust was thin and heaved about, gradually raising vast continents from the bed of the sea and slowly dragging others deep into the ocean. It was a time of vast changes.

I grew on the muddy banks of a great pool of water, which was fed by sluggish streams and bordered by monstrous reeds. On the other side stretched a vast swamp and a dark forest of tangled vegetation. For hundreds of miles there was no break to this forest beyond a few bogs and pools of brackish water. The sun shone hot upon me, so no wonder I grew well in this humid atmosphere. Then there were frightful storms, when mighty trees were flung down and swept by floods to the bottom of the pool. This had gone on ages before I appeared above ground; it went on ages after. The result was that the bottom of the pool was a mass of fallen trees. The newly felled trees pressed on the bottom ones, and after thousands of years the water, the mud, the heat and the pressure turned the mighty beds of vegetable matter into what you call coal.

In the dense forest it was somewhat the same. Trees were thrown down by hurricanes; fresh ones grew and fell victims to storms. So it went on for long centuries until the last forest grew on the top of a great thickness of buried trees, ferns and mosses. Amid this exuberant vegetation were many fantastic and uncouth animals. Round about me they made the forest resound with their hideous bellowings. They were so strangely shaped that I could not well describe them to you. Even some of the flies had wings half a foot long from tip to tip.

One day I saw a commotion in the midst of the lake far away from me. The bed rose up and belched forth steam and ashes and molten rock. In the years that followed the fluid rock rolled down the sides of the volcano into the water below. Mighty clouds of steam arose, and as the vapor condensed it fell upon us as warm rain. This is why I grew so well and why the vegetation around me was so rankly luxuriant.

Many years after the land began to sink. Slowly it went down; slowly the water closed over our heads until all the mighty forests were deep under the sea. Thus we stopped for countless years, and a heavy bed of sand accumulated above us. Then, just as slowly, we arose until we formed a vast elevated land. Then came other forests—trees whose limbs were tangled with enormous festoons and garlands of strange climbing plants. Terrible thunderstorms alone broke the silence of these wooded solitudes save when some mighty fern crashed to the ground or when the wind tore down young branches and buried them into the swamps.

So all went on anew, as of old, and the continent sank once more below the waters of the ocean, taking with it the beds of buried verdure. Yet again it rose, and again it sank. So layer upon layer of plants and of sand were formed—vast layers, which took ages unthinkable to form—until there was a depth of 10,000 feet of hard baked wood and sand, of coal and dirt. Look at me, and you will find that you can trace my markings. In every pit you can find hundreds of delicate fern leaves and mosses as perfect as when alive. You can see even the veins of the fragile fronds, so beautifully pressed are they. Dirty, old coal, indeed!

It was the sun which made me. I absorbed his rays then. When you burn me, I give them back again. I am a mass of bottled sunshine. Do you realize that the fire you watch is the sunshine which blazed in those solemn forests innumerable ages ago? It is no flight of fancy to say that I am bottled sunshine; it is a fact.

THE PLANET MARS.

Science Cannot Say Whether There Be Men There or Not.

To the popular mind all astronomical research ought of necessity to be concerned with the important questions whether there are men in the moon and inhabitants in Mars. To the first of these astronomy returns a decided negative. There is no life on the moon, and probably no life, either vegetable or animal, existed at any period of human history. To the second the answer is: We cannot tell. There may be men in Mars and there may not. The conditions of life there do not preclude the existence of human beings. We have in Mars rain and snow, sunshine and gloom, summer and winter, as on our earth.

Perhaps the closing years of the twentieth century will see astronomers armed with a telescope powerful enough to reveal towns and cities in Mars. Should ever such a discovery be made I could conceive of none greater in the whole range of time, none more upsetting or disconcerting. To the ordinary astronomer untroubled by such hopes the future lines of astronomical progress is simply and clearly defined, and that progress is simply to answer the old lines:

Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
How I wonder what you are.

This was the problem before our friend who wrote on astronomy a hundred years ago; this will be the problem before astronomers a hundred years hence.—Chambers' Journal.

Wisdom In City Directories.

The New York city directory for the early years of the nineteenth century contained an almanac and other features now considered to be extraneous to directories. The compilation was largely done by Abraham Shoemaker. Mr. Shoemaker had a habit of ornamenting the margins of the pages with quaint old "saws" of this character:

A traveler should have a hog's nose, a deer's legs and an ass' back.

A little house well filled, a little field well tilled and a little wife well drilled are great riches.

A poor man must walk to get meat for his stomach, the rich man to get a stomach for his meat.

Tell a miser he's rich and a woman she's old, you'll get no money of the one nor kindness from t'other.

Love, cough and smoke can't well be hid.

Some Famous Dunces.

Literary history is crowded with instances of torpid and uninteresting boyhood. Gibbon was pronounced "dreadfully dull," and the utmost that was predicted of Hume in his youth was that "he might possibly become a steady merchant." Adam Clarke, afterward so deeply skilled in oriental languages and antiquities, was pronounced by his father to be "a grievous dunce," and of Boileau, who became a model for Pope, it was said that he was a youth of little understanding. Dryden was "a great numskull," who went through a course of education at Westminster, but the "stimulating properties of Dr. Busby's classical ferrule were thrown away upon the drone who was to be known as 'Glorious John.'" —London Standard.

Bodies Turned to Stone.

Human bodies buried in limestone countries are often turned to solid stone by the limewater which penetrates the graves. In other soils there are elements which sometimes so embalm the buried dead as to preserve form and features unchanged. Many such cases are on record. Robert Burns' body was disinterred in 1815 to be removed to a new tomb. To the surprise of all his friends the features were found to be as perfect as at burial. When the body of John Hampden, the famous English patriot and leader, was disinterred by Lord Nugent 200 years after burial, the form and features were as unchanged as if the corpse had been recently laid in the grave.

One of Dumas' Jokes.

Just for a joke Dumas once addressed a letter to "the greatest poet in Paris." The postoffice sent it to Lamartine, the idol of sentimental readers. He hesitated to open it and took it to Victor Hugo, who protested that his brother bard had far too humble an opinion of himself. After some conversation they agreed to decide by lot which of the two should open the envelope. The lot fell to Victor Hugo, who, taking out the letter, read, "My dear Alfred." It was written to Alfred de Musset.

Too Much Appreciation.

A biography of Huxley dwells on the annoyance which he suffered from bores. But the plague had its funny side. Huxley once wrote to a friend:

"I had a letter from a fellow yesterday morning who must be a lunatic, to the effect that he had been reading my essays, thought I was the man to spend a month with and was coming down by the 5 o'clock train attended by his seven children and his mother-in-law!"

THE PHALANX.

Its Formation In the Military Methods of Ancient Greece.

A phalanx in the military affairs of Greece was a square battalion or body of soldiers formed in ranks and files compact and deep with their shields joined and pikes crossing each other so as to render it almost impossible to break it. At first the phalanx consisted of 4,000 men, but this number was afterward doubled by Philip of Macedon, and the double phalanx is hence often called the Macedonian phalanx. Polybius describes it thus:

"It was a square of pikemen, consisting of 16 in flank and 500 in front. The soldiers stood so close together that the pikes of the fifth rank extended three feet beyond the front. The rest, whose pikes were not serviceable owing to their distance from the front, couched them upon the shoulders of those who stood before them and, so locking them together in file, pressed forward to support and push on the former rank, by which means the assault was rendered more violent and irresistible." The spears of those behind also stopped the missiles of the enemy. Each man's pike was twenty-three feet long. The word phalanx is also used for any combination of people distinguished for solidity and firmness. A grand phalanx consisted of 16,384 men.

What Hit Him.

Some years ago, while a gentleman was walking from St. James' park to Pall Mall on a bright afternoon in summer, he suddenly received a blow on the shoulder which caused him to stumble, and at the same time he heard a loud, crackling noise. On recovering he looked around for his assailant, but there was nobody visible except a policeman, who was many yards away.

When the gentleman reached home, his shoulder was examined, but no injury could be found to account for the pain in it. Soon afterward the servant, who had taken away his master's outdoor coat to brush it, brought back the garment and pointed out that the nap on the shoulder was pressed flat as if a hot wire had been drawn across it. Everything, in fact, pointed to the probability that the wearer had been struck by a meteor.

The incident might well be used as a blackboard lesson for children—aye, and for some grownup children, too—who imagine that "shooting stars" only shoot in the dark.—Chambers' Journal.

Naming the Child.

Now, necessarily when the new girl baby arrived there was much discussion among the members of the family as to what her name should be.

"We will call her Geraldina," said the fond mother.

"Why not call her Esmeralda?" said the first grandmother. "I saw that name in a story once and always wanted to try it on a baby."

"Oh, murmured the second grandmother, "that would never do. Let us call her Fanchon."

"But don't you think Eltessa is a pretty name, and so odd, too?" put in one of the aunts.

"Excuse me, ladies," ventured the poor father, who sat near by, "but you seem to forget that we are trying to find a name for a human being and not for a five cent cigar."—Baltimore American.

—The Monastery of the Benedictine Brothers at Carrolltown was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday, incurring a very heavy loss. The building was partially insured.

—Ex-Governor Morrill's apple orchard in Kansas now contains 64,000 trees, and is said to be the largest single apple orchard in the world. Eight thousand trees have been set out this spring.

—The report of Insurance Commissioner Durham for 1901 just made public, shows that there was paid out for fire losses in Pennsylvania for the year $8,710,632, whilst the premiums received by the companies amounted to $16,827,130.

—As a sequel to the many incendiary fires which have occured in Huntingdon during the last few months three young men connected with some of the best families of the town, have been arrested and are under heavy bail to appear at the next term of court to answer the serious charge of having destroyed property aggregating at least $100,000

Philipsburg by the State Department as a detective to investigate the matter. He first visited Philipsburg some time in the latter part of January of this year and gained admission to this Social Club. He also returned to the same place five or six time, making his last visit there some time the middle of March. He was always admitted to their rooms, where, from his evidence as stated on the witness stand during the trial of the case, the members of the Club played pool for money; played pool for drinks; played poker and other games at cards for money and drinks.

After he had been there several times and had gotten the names of those who were specially interested in these games he informed the authorities and Kutz and Trafford were placed under arrest. Wednesday morning the defendants by their attorney's asked leave of Court to change their plea from that of "Not Guilty" to that of "Guilty" which of course was allowed.

The Court then sentenced them to pay the costs of prosecution and to each pay a fine of $125.00, also that their charter should be surrendered. The Court also made an order on the Charter that the same was surrendered, forfeited and revoked, for the reason that the priviliges therein granted the said Club were conducted in direct violation of law.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY.

The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring in and for the County of Centre in all matters relating to the same, do respectfully report:

That we have acted on 20 bills of indictment, of which 14 were found true bills and 6 bills were ignored.

We beg leave to further report that we have visited and inspected the county buildings and find them in very good condition except the wall and door around the jail yard which is in need of repair; also, the walk from court house to jail. We also recommend that said walk and door be repaired at once, and the cellar door to residence part of the jail is in very bad condition and would advise Commissioners to repair at once.

We further report, we also extend our thanks to the Honorable Judge and the District Attorney for their courtesy extended to us,

JOSEPH HOY, SR., Foreman.

Bellefonte, Pa., April 30, 1902.

The last case to be tried this week is that of A. J. Orndorf, now for the use of George W. Ward, vs. The Pine Grove Mills Water Company.

All jurors not empannaled in this case were excused about 10:30 Wednesday morning.

Like a Drowning Man.

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go." writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nocona, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicine but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble. C. M. Parrish.

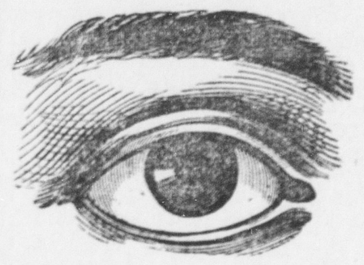
PROF. J. ANGEL

AN EXPERT



Eye Specialist!

of Williamsport, will make his monthly visit here

ONE DAY ONLY,

Thurs. May 29,

from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., with headquarters at

THE GARMAN HOUSE

Bellefonte, Pa.

I can examine your eyes at your home, by appointment, without extra charge.

If you need me at your home drop me a line in care of Garman House.

Hundreds are going blind daily, from the need of the proper prescribed glasses and from delaying attention to the eyes from time to time. Nothing will destroy your eyesight quicker than cheap glasses or glasses not properly fitted to your eyes.

Prof. Angel, in the short time he has been visiting this section, has met with marked success. Scores of leading citizens of this community have found relief from his treatment. It is not necessary to travel to Eastern cities for treatment when you can consult an eminent oculist at home.

Will be at HOWARD on Friday, May 30th.

Coleville Band concert is on the 6th. of May.

—The pension of Joseph Miles Green of Milesburg has been increased to $12 per month.

—Brazilian Balm loosens the cough and cures the cold like magic. Then, it does not injure the ears or wreck the kidneys like quinine.

Don't miss hearing Bellefonte's phenominal boy soprano, John Kane and Mr. F. J. Saunders, the great baritone singer at the Coleville Band concert on Tuesday evening May 6th.

—The old boiler works, near the Pennsylvania railroad depot, are being torn away and in their place Charles McCafferty will erect four brick-cased tenement houses with all the modern conveniences.

—Ephriam Frantz, of Waddle, Pa., aged 23 years, was brought to Bellefonte Friday morning suffering from appendicitis and taken to Dr R. G. H. Hayes' hospital where an operation was performed.

—The Hollidaysburg and Gap iron mills, which have beenidle for some time, have been purchased by Robert C. Neal, of Harrisburg. The new management will rebuild and operate the works, giving employment to about 300 men.

—Frank H. Gamel, General Secretary of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A., delivered a lecture Friday evening in the Baptist church at Port Matilda. His subject was 'An American Boy." The lecture was under the auspices of the Presbyterian church of that place.

—Fire broke out about 12 o'clock Wednesday in the roof of the house of Bert Robb in Eagleville. The neighbors responded promptly to the alarm and the fire was extinguished before the house was badly damaged. The fire communicated to the barn of Henry Johnson, but the damage to this building is slight. A high wind was blowing and fears of a big conflagration were at first eatertained.

—The habit of driving through the streets of the Borough of Bellefonte at an unusual speed is becoming a nuisance. There is an ordinance forbidding fast driving but to our certain knowledge this ordinance has never been enforced. The habit will continue until some serious accident occurs when every one will exclaim, Why not enforce the ordinances that are on our statue books; Children are sent on errands or wander on the streets where they are liable to be run over by reckless drivers.

—The Pennsylvania has given another order for engines. In addition to the 60 ordered from the Baldwin works some weeks ago they have just given orders for 49 more, a total of 109 new locomotives under construction at the Baldwin works alone. They will also build about 50 passenger engines at the Juniata shops. More than 200 new engines will be added to the equipment of the Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania lines this spring and summer. It has been estimated that, for new power alone, this system will expend this year about $2,000,000. The work on the new engines is to be rushed as fast as possible.

—The Harrisburg Patriot is authority for the statement again that either the Fifth or Fourteenth regiment of the National Guard will shortly be disbanded, the companies retained in the service to be assigned to other regiments of the second brigade to make each one a full twelve company regiment. It says, on the one hand, that the Fifth is in disfavor on account of the bad conduct of some of the men of the Clearfield company on inspection in February last, when General Goben of the third brigade was present and witnessed the humiliating spectacle; and on the other hand the Fourteenth is weak for the want of armory room for the proper handling of the various companies.

—The best thing in the world is a good man. The first thing that a human being should recognized about himself is that his character is his distinguishing feature. It is not the amount of money, the amount of power, the amount of brains that a man has, but his character. Whatever fellowmen may say or do to the contrary, this is a fact, that what separates him from others and gives him his individuality, is his goodness or his lack of goodness, according to its degree. Money power and brains have their place and exert an influence in deciding a man's position and recognition, but the standard of ages, by which each is tried, is character and in God's sight which is the final and determined sight, men are what they are in wishes and purposes. It is not, then, too much to say, that the supreme ambition of a person's life should be to secure a worthy character.

FURIOUS FOREST FIRES

Loss of Life and Destruction of Property is Reported.

WORD COMES FROM WILLIAMSPORT

Of the Burning to Death of Two Men and of Narrow Escapes Made by Others Houses and Valuable Lumber Destroyed.

MILES OF FLAMES CAN BE SEEN

WILLIAMSPORT, April 25.—During the past forty-eight hours the furious sweep of forest fires has caused devastation to a vast amount of property and in two cases the loss of life is attributed to the fire fiend. From Sinnemahoning comes meagre details of the terrible fate that befell two men and the thrilling escape of four others. Mountain fires destroyed a large number of sleepers and caused the rails to spread on Barclay's lumber road. An engine and a dozen cars loaded with logs were derailed. The locomotive overturned, pinning two of the six men ridding on it under the tender. The other four men saved themselves with great difficulty but were unable to prevent their comrades, pinned under the tender, from burning to death. The names of the unfortunate men have not been learned.

As a result of the fire which destroyed ten houses, a church, a school house and nine stables in the village of Clintondale, Clinton county, Wednesday, 6 year-old Agnes Felding lost her life. The child became frightened when the flames attacked the home of her parents, and in attempting to reach a place of safety she fell into a creek and was drowned. Her body was recovered Wednesday a mile from her home, having been carried down the current.

Wednesday night at Tiadaghton, as a Fall Brook passenger train stopped at the station, a woman with a badly blistered face, who had just come down off the mountain, rushed up and implored the men about the station to go up to the mountain to help fight the fire. She said that the houses of all the settlers in that vicinity would be destroyed unless they got help. A fire fighting brigade was formed to go to the excited settlers.

Over fifty men worked hard all day Wednesday and a portion of Wednesday night, fighting a fierce fire in Mosquito Valley above the Williamsport Water company's reservoir. The flames covered an immense area, fully a hundred acres of ground being burned over. Near midnight the fighters succeeded in mastering the fire. The mountains bordering Pine Creek are reported ablaze from Ramseyville to Ansonia. At Ramseyville 2,500 feet of logs belonging to Valentine Luppert, of South Williamsport, were destroyed. Several small houses closely adjacent were also burned.

At Ridgeway, last night, a fire alarm was sounded and the citizens turned out to fight the encroached flames and saved the town from destruction.

Passengers arriving here from points along the Philadelphia and Erie railroad state that the forests are ablaze from Renovo to Johnstown.

Don't Buy Trout.

A section of an act signed by Governor Stone May 29, 1901, reads:

"That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any proprietor, manager, clerk, or agent of any market, hotel, boarding house, eating house, restaurant, or saloon, or any, person, company or corporation in this Commonwealth to purchase, sell, or expose for sale any brook or speckled trout."

The penalty for non-compliance with the law is $25. Any justice, alderman or magistrate, on information, can issue his warrant for the arrest of the party charged with the violation of the law, and shall hear the case.

One-half of the fine and costs go to the informant and the other half to the county treasurer. If the party fined refuses to pay the fine he must go to the county jail one day for each dollar of fine unpaid. The only exception to the law are those who breed and raise trout artificially in the ponds owned or leased and occupied by them for that purpose.

Archdeaconry Meets.

DANVILLE, April 24.—The archdeaconry of Williamsport is meeting here at present. The first session was held Monday night, when the Rev. Edward Henry Eckel, of Christ church, Williamsport, conducted evensong, and the Rev. George Israel Brown, of Bellefonte, preached a sermon in which he contrasted the Episcopal church with the Protestant and Roman churches.

Clearfield Girl Missing.

The Clearfield Daily Spirit is advertising for a lost girl. Miss Anna Phillips, aged 21 years, thin faced, black hair and eyes, about 5 feet 6 inches tall and a very pleasant girl. Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Few people are aware of the extent of the Institution presided over by Dr. Pierce or that an important part of his medical enterprise was the establishment of the invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, where people from afar can be lodged, borded and treated, with all the privileges offered by the finest hospitals, yet with a personal care and freedom entirely foreign to such institutions. Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute has a staff of nearly a score of physicans, each man a specialist. It has a bacteriological and analytical department second to those of no medical institution in the United States. It has elaborate machines and appliances, together with all the most approved mechanical apparatus, for the vibratory treatment of diseases.

Of late particular attention has been drawn to the possibility of treating certain forms of disease, mechanically. Whole pages in the newspapers and magazines have been given up to the description and illustration of the mechanical devices in use, and the mechanical treatment of disease has been exploited as if it were a novelty. It may be to many people, but as an evidence of the advanced thought and progressive spirit of Dr. Pierce, it may be mentioned that many of these mechanical devices for the cure of disease have been in use in the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute for a score of years In this, as in everything else, Dr. Pierce keeps his great Institution at the front, with the result that there is a constant stream of persons seeking treatment who come from the farthest states and most remote territories. Often these invalids have gone to the great hospitals of the country and found no benefit, coming to Dr. Pierce as a last resort. It is gratifying to know that the public faith in Dr. Pierce and his methods and medicines is amply justified by the many and remarkable cures which have resulted from his treatment. It may be well in this connection to emphasize the value of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter addressed especially to those suffering from chronic diseases. In a great many cases the advertised offers of "free medical advice" have behind them not a single medical practitioner qualified to give medical advice. It is only necessary to point to the medical staff of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute as evidence that Dr. Pierce's offer is genuine as it is free.

Her Good Business Head.

"You say she is a good business woman?"

"Oh, splendid, incomparable. She lets absolutely nothing drive business out of her head. Why, just before Harold started for Europe he proposed to her by letter and asked her to telegraph her answer."

"Well?"

"Well, most people would have telegraphed 'Yes' or 'No,' but she had enough of a business head to wire, 'It affords me great pleasure to say yes to you,' thus preventing the telegraph company from getting any advantage of her in charging for a ten word message."—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Corn Cure.

To cure corns get a little gutta percha tissue from a druggist, cut it into strips and then wind a piece round the corn, which must first be moistened with oil. See that the edges of the tissue are as even as possible, and when you have wound it round wet the inside of the end with spirits of turpentine. This will cause it to stick firmly if you press it down. With a feather dipped in turpentine touch the edges of the tissue, and they will unite. Leave for four days, then take off the dressing, and you will be able to remove the corn with the back of a penknife.

The Monocle Is Harmful.

No sensible person will ever wear a single eyeglass unless he is blind of one eye. Its use means that one eye is neither employed nor unemployed, but is engaged in ceaseless though no doubt unconscious efforts to see as much as its more favored fellow. This straining is as harmful as anything could well be and cannot fail to lead to the gravest results.

One or the Other.

"What do you think of that wheel?" asked Sprockets, whose bicycle had been in a collision.

"I think it ought to be re-tired or retired," replied Dinwiddie.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Similar, but Different.

Biggs—When I make a trade, I always want something to boot.

Diggs—Same here, and I usually get it later when I kick myself.—Chicago News.

—A puny child is always an anxiety to the parents. There seems generally no reason why the little one should be weak when it is so well fed. But the fact is that it does not matter how much food the child takes if the stomach cannot extract the nourishment from it. No nourishment can be derived from just eating. That is the condition of many a sickly child. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are not doing their work, and the body is really starving. It is little use to give fish foods, like cod liver oil or emulsions, in such a case, because these also have to be digested; they may lighten the stomach's labor but they don't strengthen it. Strength is what the stomach needs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and increases the action of the blood making glands. It is superior to every other preparation for children's use, on account of its body building qualities, and also because it is pleasant to the taste and contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a valuable aid when the bowels are irregular. They are small. Children take them readily.

THE WORD PARADISE.

Its Earliest Meaning Was an Inclosed Pleasure Ground.

The earliest meaning of the word paradise appears to have been a walled in pleasure ground. In the Hebrew it was "perdes," in the Persian "ferdus," and from one or other of these the Greeks appear to have derived the word "paradeisos," from which we get our own word. We also know that the ancient monarchs of Chaldea and Assyria and also of Egypt constructed vast inclosures of forest land for the preservation of wild animals kept for hunting purposes, and these were also called paradises. Thus, the historical meaning of the word comes to this: A space protected from all incursion from the outer world, in which those who were privileged to enter were able to indulge in such pleasures as pleased their fancy.

It is easy to see the translation from the material to the spiritual meaning, paradise in the latter sense meaning the place of the elect or chosen. This is strikingly borne out by the fact that the favorite battlecry of the Moslems, whose firm belief it is that those who die fighting go straight to heaven, was always "Fight! Fight! Paradise! Paradise!" And the strong probability is that they got the word from the Persian campaigns of the eighth century. The use of the word in its present form in the New Testament is of Greek origin, and its description as applied to the garden of Eden is probably of Hebrew origin, dating from the period of the captivity.

A Forgotten Statesman.

Why is it that Oliver Ellsworth has received so little attention from biographers and historians? asks Frank Gaylord Cook in The Atlantic. He was not born in Massachusetts or Virginia. In Connecticut, like Pennsylvania, the historic field has been meagerly tilled. Moreover, the dramatic and opportune quality of his work has been perceived only through the perspective of subsequent years. To negotiate an unpopular convention for a party just retiring from office in defeat and ignominy is not conducive to immediate fame.

Nevertheless he has not been wholly overlooked by subsequent statesmen. Webster said of him: "For strength of reason, for sagacity, wisdom and sound good sense in the conduct of affairs, for moderation of temper and general ability, it may be doubted if New England has yet produced his superior."

What he said as chief justice of the United States to the grand jury at Savannah in 1796 was the aim of his life. "So let us rear an empire sacred to the rights of men and commend a government of reason to the nations of the earth."

A Witty Reply of Pope.

As narrated by Edward Walford in his "Greater London," Frederick, prince of Wales, sometimes visited Alexander Pope at his villa. On one occasion when the prince was on a visit Pope, after expressing the most dutiful professions of attachment, gave his royal highness an opportunity of observing very shrewdly that his (the poet's) love for princes was inconsistent with his dislike for kings, since princes may in time become kings. Said his royal highness:

"Mr. Pope, I hear you don't like princes."

"Sir, I beg your pardon."

"Well, then, you don't like kings."

"Sir, I must own that I like the lion best before his claws are grown."

No reply could well have been happier.

Cultivate Tact.

The average man who curses his luck because he wasn't born with money to take advantage of his opportunities could get all the money he wants from people who have it if he had a small stock of tact. The youth who hasn't any friends who have faith in him could have an army of them if there was in his makeup a small stock of tact.

Tact has built more bridges and railroads, financed more banks, created more public reputations and capped more achievements than all the ability, talent and genius in the world. More subtle than money, it acquires possessions at less cost. Surer than brains, it achieves bigger things with greater ease.—New York Press.

A Way Out.

A small girl told a falsehood. Her mother, with great dignity, led the youthful offender to the library and, sitting down beside her, said: "You know, Katharine, grandma has gone to heaven and papa has gone to heaven, but if you tell untruths you cannot go to heaven with them. You will have to go to the other place."

The little maiden looked very grave for a moment and said, "Say a swear word, mamma, and come to the other place too."—New York Tribune.

The Better Choice.

"Ze Miss Millyons, it is said, spen's thousan's of dollars on ze bonnets alone, my dear count," observed the baron. "She is ze one for you."

"No, my dear baron," was the reply. "I vill make ze proposal to her milliner."—Judge.

Exclusiveness.

"Pauline is very exclusive, isn't she?"

"Oh, yes; quite. She never introduces an eligible man to any other girl."—London King.

Do not neglect to keep your boots polished. You can always shine at one end, if you cannot at the other.

BANNER SALVE,
the most healing salve in the world.
C. M. Parrish.

The Changeling Child.

The Scientific Explanation of the Change Formerly Attributed to the Fairies.

In folk lore stories there is frequent mention of changelings—children who were changed by fairy influence. Some loving wife and proud husband found their child weak of body, and sometimes weak of mind. It grew up to be fretful, sullen and perhaps spiteful. It seemed impossible that love could bring such a child into the world. So the child was called a fairy changeling, a child substituted by the fairies for one whom in their envy for its loviness they had carried away.

We hear no more of fairy stories. Stern science says that healthy and lovely children must have healthy parents, and that when the mother in her days of waiting and anticipation is nervous, anxious, sleepless and generally miserable, her child will be weak and fretful.

How reasonable this is. The child can have no strength which the mother does not give it, and how can the weak mother, who has not enough strength for herself have anything to spare for her babe?

THE FAIRY GOD-MOTHER

is a very pretty invention. But the real fairy god-mother is the natural mother of the child. It is she who must endow her child with health from which springs all other endowments desirable for humanity.

The way to have healthy children is to be healthy. But how to be healthy is the vexing question for women. Is the mother to blame because she is nervous, because her appetite fails and her strength wanes, because she is sleepless and despondent? One cannot blame the woman whose only failing is that she does not know how to change her condition. Yet a woman's health is practically in her own control. If she is weak she can be made strong. If she is sick she can be made well. The experience of other women shows that the rose of motherhood can be stripped of its thorns by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"When I wrote to you in March, asking advice as to what to do for myself," says Mrs. Ella Reynolds, of Guffie, McLean Co., Ky. "I was expecting the baby's coming in June, and was sick all of the time. Had been sick for several months. Could not get anything to stay on my stomach, not even water. Had mishaps twice in six months, and threatening all the time now. Had female weakness for several years. My hips, back and lower bowels hurt me all the time. Had numbness from my hips down. Had several hard cramping spells, and was not able to do any work at all. I received your answer in a few days, telling me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I took three bottles, and before I had taken it a week I was better, and before I had taken it a month I was able to help do my work. On the 27th of May my baby came, and I was only sick three hours, and had an easy time. The doctor said I got along nicely.

"We praise Dr. Pierce's medicine for it has cured me. I am better now than I have been for thirteen years. I hope all how are afflicted will do as I have done and be cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a perfect medicine for women. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and cures female weakness. It is the best preparative for maternity, strengthening the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength to give her child and make the baby's advent practically painless.

THE TEST OF WOMAN'S HEALTH

is strength. A well woman will be a strong woman. She will not be "just dragging around" with throbbing head, aching back and constant weariness. No woman can be strong who is troubled by disease of the delicate female organism. The proof of the curative power of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription may be all summed up in the phrase "It makes weak women strong, sick women well."

"During my two years of married life I have not had good health," writes Mrs. Daisy Studdard, of 608 So. Esplanade Ave., Leavenworth, Kans. "I was all run-down, and my husband got me to write to Dr. Pierce and explain my case to him and see if he could do me any good. So I wrote, and, thank the Lord, I got an early reply, telling me what the trouble was. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and now can say that I feel like a new woman, and can say also that we have a big baby four months old. When the baby came it was just wonderful how I got along and now I do all my work and do not feel tired out like I used to. I have taken eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription.' It makes one feel well and strong."

Women who are troubled with chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All letters are privately read and privately answered, and womanly confidences are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed in personal consultations. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

When a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious preparations offers a substitute as "just as good" as "Favorite Prescription" remember that "just as good" for him means his profit and your loss.

A WOMAN IS AT HER WITS' END

sometimes to find a cure for familiar ills. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is full of helpful hints and information for women.

"I got the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser for 31 one-cent stamps," writes M. M. Wardwell, Esq., of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kans. "Would't take five dollars for it if we couldn't get another. Gave receipt for 'nursing sore mouth' to two women that the doctor was not able to benefit, and they were cured."

This great medical work, containing 1008 large pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Greater Cost of Living.

According to Dun's Review the cost of living in this country has reached the highest point attained during the decade. November 1 last the average cost was $97.73. This is an increase of 6 per cent as compared with the same date last year. The increase in the average cost of living has been most notable since July 1, 1897. The figures then were $72.46

Pennsylvania's Daughter Wins.

The Superior Court Monday handed down a decree affirming the Lycoming lower court in the famous Pangborn-Allen case, means that $30,000 worth of property near the central part of Williamsport, purchased by individuals and firms from the W. S. Allen estate, is the property of Louisa Perrine, of Plainfield, N. J.

At the trial the testimony showed that Allen was Stephen Pangborn, that he had married at Plainfield and Mrs. Perrine was his daughter; that soon after she was born he had disappeared, settling in Williamsport, where, under the name of Allen, he married again, raised a family and accumulated considerable property before he was killed while hunting.

Potter County Boy Killed.

Clyde, the 10 year old son of Leon James, of Andrews Settlement, Potter county, was killed a few days ago by a barn door falling upon him. The lad was assisting in making repairs at the barn when the accident occurred.

HEART STIMULANT.

Cold Applications Superior to Drafts of Alcohol.

There is a deep seated belief amounting almost to a superstition that alcohol is a very important heart stimulant, especially when this organ is weak. Winternitz, the great authority on hydrotherapy in Germany, has often told us of the very great value of cold as a heart stimulant or tonic and that it is far superior to alcohol in this respect. Dr. Kellogg gives the method of application as follows:

"The application consists of a compress applied to the portion of the chest wall over the heart. This comprises the space bounded by the second rib above, the right border of the sternum, a line falling a half inch to the right of the nipple and the sixth rib below. The compress should be large enough to cover this space and to extend at least two inches outside of it. Ordinarily the best effects are produced by employing water at a temperature of about 60 degrees. The compress should be wrung moderately dry and should be very lightly covered. It is desirable that cooling by slow evaporation should be encouraged and be continued for some time."

Dr. Kellogg continues: "In Germany and France it is the custom to administer alcohol to the patient just before putting him in a cold bath. Some practitioners, as Winternitz, administer but a very small amount, a single mouthful of wine, for instance, while others give brandy in considerable quantities. A few American practitioners employ brandy freely with the cold bath. The unwisdom of this practice will be apparent on due consideration of the following facts:

"One purpose in administering the cold bath is to secure a true stimulant or tonic effect by arousing the vital energies through excitation of the nerve centers. Alcohol was once supposed to be capable of effecting this and was used for this purpose in typhoid fever and various other morbid conditions accompanied by depression of the vital forces. At the present time, however, it is well known, and with practical unanimity admitted, that alcohol is neither a tonic nor a stimulant, but a narcotic; that it depresses and does not excite; that it lessens and does not increase the activity of the nerve centers, and that this is true of small as well as large doses, as has been shown by the researches of careful investigators."—Health.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Give the roots of trees a deep and broad bed of soil to start and grow in.

In pruning the grape cut back to the third bud, as it is usually the first entirely perfect bud produced.

When winds prevail from any direction, as they usually do, lean the tree a little in that direction when setting out.

The essentials in making a good garden are rich soil, plenty of manure, good seeds, timely labor and a fair season.

Having the soil in a good tilth and planting in straight rows will save much labor in cultivating in the garden.

One of the best ways of getting rid of moss and lichens adhering to the bark of trees is an application of lime whitewash.

In taking trees from a nursery or forest, preserve all of the roots and fine rootlets possible. Dig out instead of pulling up the tree.

When the fruit or leaves of any plant or tree are eaten by insects of any kind, spraying in good season and sufficiently often is the safest and best remedy.

Gladiolus bulbs should be planted in full sunshine, four or five inches deep and about one foot apart. Good soil, rather sandy, is best, avoiding manure, especially if fresh.

To the Point.

An incident which occurred while Admiral Dewey was commanding the Asiatic squadron and one which illustrates his independence is one known as "the coal incident."

It seems that his squadron was in need of coal, but instead of writing to the chief of the bureau of equipment at the navy department he purchased a large amount of coal without consulting the department.

The following is the correspondence between the admiral and Captain Bradford, the chief of the bureau of equipment, and is self explanatory:

Navy Department, Washington.
To Dewey, Manila:
Why did you buy so much coal?
BRADFORD.

Flagship Olympia, Manila.
To Bradford, Chief Bureau Equipment, Washington:
To burn. DEWEY.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. A Wise Woman.

One of the best attractions that has appeared at Garman's opera house this season was Mr. Leslie Davis' company in Wilfred Clark's great three act farcial comedy "A Wise Woman" which held the boards here Monday evening. There was a large audience present and everyone went away well pleased with their evening's entertainment. The company was unusually strong and well balanced and each performer was a star of the first magnitude. The play was brimful of wit and humor and many laughable situations were presented.

Between the first and second act a monologue specialty was introduced by John "Chinee" Leach which made a decided hit. He is one of the cleverest monologue artists that ever appeared here.

Frederick Murphy, Gale Satterlee, John Ferguson, Alice Geer, Marie Lamour and Ethel Balch all deserve special mention for their fine acting.

Many clever specialties were introduced during the evening.

AT ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL.

Bishop Talbot Preaches Eloquent Sermon and Confirms Class of Twenty-nine.

St. John's Protestant Episcopal church was crowded to the doors Thursday evening to witness the confirmation services and listen to an eloquent sermon from the lips of Bishop Ethelbert Talbot, D, D., LL. D., of Bethlehem, Pa.

The services were most appropriate and beautiful and a class of twenty-nine was confirmed and taken into the church. The class was composed as follows:

James G. Solt, John A. Farthing, Ada L. Powers, Lillian May Auman, Ada M. Farthing, Grace E. Witmer, Ruth L. Wyland, Katherine A. Bair, Helen M. Bair, Esther E. Campbell, Mrs. O. H. Farthing, John T. Leepard, Mrs. Gertrude E. Leepard, Mrs. Fannie E. Espenshade (wife of Prof. A. Harry Espenshade, of State College), F. M. Curtin, Randolph Hoy, Frederick E. Lane, Clarence W. Love, Lillian G. Muffly, Stacia A. Wyland, Anna F. Russell, Beatrice M. Gehret, Susan Mewshaw, Blanche E. Houser. May Wolf, Deborah M. Long, Mrs. Sabra Garman, Sydney Krumrine, Mrs. Celia H. Bair.

Following the confirmation Bishop Talbot preached from the 10th verse and 19th chapter of St. Luke, "The Son of Man is come to save that which is lost." He drew a lesson from the story of Zacheus who being short of stature climbed a sycamore tree that he might see the Master and hear him preach. Zacheus was a publican and a sinner but Jesus saw him in the tree and bade him come down and went to Zacheus' house and dined with him. The lesson which Christ taught by this action was one of charity to all and love for God and our fellow-man. We should go out into the highways and byways and try and bring the sheep that have strayed back into the fold.

Quite a touching incident took place after the regular service was over. Bishop Talbot very gracefully presented a purse of forty dollars to Rev. Frank S. Smillan, deaf mute rector from Harrisburg, who looks after the spiritual interests of the silent people in the Central Pennsylvania Diocese. This purse was raised through solicitation by Burns Crider, John I. Leepard and others and is to go to buy a surplice and other things necessary for a rector. After the services the Bishop held an informal reception at the rectory. The Bishop was entertained by Col. and Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds while in the city.

MISS ELIZABETH COLLINS.

Died at Her Home Near Bellefonte Thursday Evening.

Miss Elizabeth Collins, a sister of the late Philip Collins and aunt of Thomas A. Shoemaker, died at her home near town Thursday evening at a quarter of seven o'clock. Her death was due to the infirmities incident to old age.

Deceased was born in Munster, Cambria county, 76 years ago and was the daughter of Peter and Sara Collins. For the past fifteen years she has resided at this place. She was a kind, Christian lady and an earnest member of the Catholic church.

She is survived by a brother and sister, namely: Peter, of Philadelphia, and Miss Sara, of Bellefonte. Deceased was of a most charitable disposition and many acts of charity were performed by her in a quiet unostentatious manner.

Funeral services were held in St. John's Catholic church Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. Later the remains were taken to Ebensburg, Cambria county, where the interment took place Saturday afternoon.

The casket bearers were P. Gray Meek, Harry Fenlon, John M. Shugert, C. M. Parrish, John Blanchard and John M. Dale.

DEATH OF JAMES C. NOLL.

Formerly of This Borough, but Late of Oklahoma.

Monday evening the sad intelligence reached Bellefonte of the death of a former Centre countian, James C. Noll, which occurred at Stillwater, Oklahoma, Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Death was due to heart disease. The remains will be brought to the home of his mother, Mrs. Emeline Noll, at Pleasant Gap, from which place the funeral services will be held.

James C. Noll was born and raised at Pleasant Gap and was 39 years of age. He was the son of W. H. Noll, now deceased, and his wife Emeline. He graduated from Franklin and Marshall college and later studied law with the firm of Orvis, Bower & Orvis and was admitted to the Centre county bar September 4, 1891. About four years ago he went west and finally located in Stillwater, Oklahoma, where he engaged in the practice of law and became quite successful. He married a young lady out there who survives him. He is survived also by his mother and the following brothers and sister, namely: W. H., Jr., J. A., John T. and Ethel, of Pleasant Gap, and Boyd A., of Zion.

Hurried Home From Black Forest at News of Child's Death.

Lemuel Felding, the father of the child that was drowned at Clintondale last Thursday night, heard of his bereavement by reading a newspaper while in Walker's camp in the Black Forest Sunday morning. As soon as he read of the fire and the death of his child he started for his home. He walked twenty five miles in four hours to Lock Haven, went by trolley to Mill Hall, and from that place walked to Clintondale. Mr. Felding left home several days ago to look for work. He had intended that he would not write home until he had secured employment. He obtained a job in Walker's camp, and would have written in a few days. When he arrived in this city he was under the impression that his family had been burned out, but stated that he did not care so much for that as he did for the death of his child.

Cut an Artery in His Arm.

Ben Houdeshell, of Roland, Pa., met with quite a serious accident Monday evening while in Bellefonte. About 7 o'clock in the evening he started to enter Anderson's pool room where he suddenly slipped and falling forward ran his left arm through a pane of glass in the door. One of the arteries in his arm was cut and bled quite profusely. Dr. M. A. Kirk was sent for and he bound up the injured man's arm and later Houdeshell's son took him to his home at Roland.

Houdeshell is rather unfortunate as not long ago he was struck by a Pennsylvania train while walking along the track just below the Milesburg station and knocked down an embankment. He was badly bruised up but not seriously injured.

He is a woodsman and is engaged in getting out lumber for F. W. Crider, of this place.

Serious Accident.

Harry Gunsalus, of Snow Shoe, a brakeman on a coal train on the Snow Shoe branch of the Pennsylvania railroad, had the misfortune to meet with an accident Tuesday afternoon that resulted in the loss of his right arm just below the elbow. His train was coming down the mountain behind the regular train and Gunsalus was at his post of duty breaking. When near the Intersection the brake-chain broke and Gunsalus, who had hold of the wheel at the time, was thrown beneath the cars and a car wheel passed over his arm crushing it between the wrist and elbow.

The unfortunate man was placed upon the passenger train, due here at 5:30, and brought to this place and taken to Dr. Hayes' hospital where Doctors Harris and Hayes examined him. The arm was so badly crushed that it was found necessary to amputate it near the elbow.

—Philip Waddle, the express messenger on the Central Railroad between here and Mill Hall is laid up with tonsilitis.

Change in Management.

The many friends of Mr. John J. Shanfelter and his most estimable wife will learn with genuine regret of their retirement from the management of the Brockerhoff House, which they have conducted so successfuly for the past year or so. This will necessitate their leaving Bellefonte for other fields of usefulness. Mr. Shanfelter is a thorough hotel man and under his management the business of the Brockerhoff House has increased greatly and the accommodations offered to guests have been of a very high order. Mr. Shanfelter is a gentleman in every particular and his pleasing and obliging manners have made it a pleasure to do business with him.

F. D. Ray, of the Altamont House, Altoona, will assume charge of the Brockerhoff House to-day. He is said to be an up-to-date hotel man and will no doubt make decided success of his new undertaking.
